TRADE WAR WITH GERMANY PENDS

Last Word from Kaiser's Government on Tariff Has Been Received.

ITS GRAVE TONE PRESAGES FIGHT

President to Proclaim a Minimum Tariff for Some Nations.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The last word of the German government in the matter of tariff arrangement with the United States reached the state department today. It embodies one concession of value, the nature of which is believed to relate to the meat trade. Whether this will be sufficient to include Germany among the nations entitled to the minimum tariff rate probably will depend upon the report of the tariff experts to whom the communication will be submitted.

Of this list Italy is the most important of the continental countries of Europe at present to receive the reduced rates inasmuch as her exports to the United States exceed those of either Russia, Spain, Switzerland or Turkey.

It is expected that other proclamations soon will be issued, designating other countries, to be entitled to reduced rates, but no information is yet obtainable as to which nations will be included. It is known, however, that Germany and France will not be in the list. The maximum list under the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill will go into operation at 12 o'clock midnight on March 31 next.

The advantageous position of Italy as to all countries not entitled to the minimum rates is manifest, as she is regarded as in a position to strike a hard blow to German and French trade with the United States should they not so amend their tariff laws and regulations as to place them in the same position as Italy and other countries entitled to the minimum rates of duty.

MAY MEAN TRADE WAR.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The German government today cabled to Washington replying to a memorandum from the United States relating to the tariff on shipments between the two countries. While it does not accept the American wishes in various respects, and especially concerning the importation of meat, the German response is sent in the hope that it will be satisfactory and as all that the German government can do.

Shows Gravity of Feeling.

The reply was dispatched with a certain feeling of gravity because of the feeling that Germany can do more and must be prepared for trade hostilities should the United States, unhappily, insist on more than Germany accords to other countries.

Chancellor Von Bethman-Hollweg and his associates, the imperial ministers, appear convinced that the combined conservative center and national liberal parties of the reichstag would block the way to any departure from the present laws covering the importation of meats.

The government has received the opinions of the leaders of these parties and moreover has gathered widely the views of manufacturing interests. It is cited at this time that in promulgating the American-German tariff agreement in 1907 President Roosevelt stated that Germany was giving to the United States more than she was receiving.

Ready for the Worst.

It is further pointed out that now the American tariff revision having been made, as is constantly asserted in all quarters, with the design of limiting German trade with the United States, and a request being made that Germany shall make further impossible concessions, the general temper of the country, as indicated by the chambers of commerce, the reichstag, financial journals and the governmental special inquiries, is steadfast in what is considered a sound position, namely, to take whatever comes.

TO PROCLAIM MINIMUM RATE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Some time this afternoon or tomorrow the state department will make public proclamations by President Taft declaring that certain European countries, therein specified, are entitled to the minimum rates of duty imposed by the Payne-Aldrich bill. These countries are Great Britain, Russia, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and Turkey.

"WHITEY" LAUER IN BAD.

Sneaked Into Priest's House and Stole Some Things.

"Whitey" Lauer, a police character, was locked up this morning at headquarters on a charge of stealing an umbrella and some other articles from the priest's house at St. Peter's Catholic church. He sneaked into the house and was seen as he left, but managed to elude his pursuers. Patrolman Shaughnessy was called into the case and landed him. He had the stolen stuff in his possession.

QUANT SERIOUSLY HURT.

Martin Quant, living in Madison township, near Hoagland, was badly injured yesterday by a falling limb. He and his brother were engaged in felling a tree and a limb caught him, breaking one of his legs and inflicting serious bruises. He was attended by Dr. Orville Smith, of Hoagland.

AS NIGHT FALLS WALSH TO START

PRISON DOORS TO CLOSE ON HIM SOON

In a Few Hours He Will be Merely a Convict With a Number.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The last hope of John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, of keeping out of prison, was dispelled today when the United States circuit of appeals overruled his motion for a new trial on the grounds of the alleged misconduct of jurors in the original trial. The court also ordered a mandate to be issued to the district court, the court of original jurisdiction.

Walsh Not in Court.

It was expected Mr. Walsh would be sentenced in the district court this afternoon and be turned over to the United States district marshal, L. T. Hoy. Walsh did not appear in court, but spent the greater part of the morning in his office at the Grand Central station. Shortly before the court gave its decision Mr. Walsh apparently had been given an intimation of the findings for he left his office, entered a cab and was driven off in the direction of his home.

United States Marshal L. T. Hoy announced that Mr. Walsh would be taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., on a train leaving at 6 p. m. He will be accompanied by Marshal Hoy and Deputy Marshal Thomas Middleton.

Will Be in Prison Soon.

Mr. Walsh will arrive at Leavenworth tomorrow morning and a short time after that will be an ordinary prisoner.

It was rumored that Mr. Miller, chief counsel for Walsh, would begin habeas corpus proceedings this afternoon.

Judge Landis, sitting in the district court, ordered a clerk to make out the mittimus and it was delivered to Marshal Hoy.

Mr. Hoy decided to give Mr. Walsh as much time as possible with his family and said he would allow him to remain at home in custody of the deputies until it was time to go to the train.

In the Court of Appeals.

The government was represented in the circuit court of appeals by District Attorney Edwin W. Sims, Special District Attorneys J. H. Wilkerson and Fletcher Dobyns and Assistant District Attorneys Robert W. Childs and Francis G. Hanchett. Attorney John S. Miller was in charge of the defense.

Court convened with Judges Grosscup, Baker and Seaman sitting. Mr. Miller, in his arguments on the motion for a new trial, recited the incidents brought out in his petition concerning the physical conditions of the jurors whom, he alleged, were unfit to stand the strain of the confinement in the jury room.

TO ARGUE HIS CASE BEFORE ENTIRE COMMISSION

C. S. Bash Will Address Interstate Commerce Commissioners.

Charles S. Bash is preparing to go to Washington, where on February 9 he will appear before the intertsate commerce commission to orally argue the case of the Bash Fertilizer company vs. the Wabash Railroad and others. The action is to secure lower freight rates on fertilizer, and Mr. Bash contends that the issue involved is an economic principle of rate-making. He declares that owing to the important part it plays in the production of food supplies by fertilization of the earth, the rate for transportation of fertilizer should be lower than that for any other commodity transported by the railroads.

Mr. Bash is not an attorney, but this will not be his first appearance in court as an advocate, though he has never before made an argument before the entire interstate commerce commission. He has appeared in his cases in the state courts and before special examiners of the interstate commerce commission. Now he will carry the fight up to the full commission and will personally conduct his side of the case.

Considerable evidence has already been taken in the action, which has been pending for a year or more.

TORE PILOT OFF CAR.

Toledo and Chicago Interurban Has Mishap on Wells Street.

In crossing the Lake Shore railroad tracks on Wells street shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon an incoming Toledo and Chicago interurban car caught its pilot upon some obstruction in the crossing and the pilot was torn completely off the car. There was no further damage.

A new case of smallpox at 335 Baker street, was reported to the health department today. The patient's name is Clark and he was removed to the isolation hospital.

CURTISS WILL TRY FOR DISTANCE RECORD

Plans a Flight from Los Angeles to San Diego, 98 Miles Away.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—If ideal weather conditions of yesterday prevail again today Glenn H. Curtiss will attempt the unparalleled feat of an aeroplane flight from here to San Diego. The people of that city have offered a purse of $5,000 for the flight and that Curtiss will make the attempt is certain. The distance is 98 miles by air line and Paulhan did 75 miles in less than two hours yesterday over the Dominguez course while trying to beat Farman's 141-mile record. If Curtiss makes it today it will be the first time so far as known that a man has flown between two cities so far apart. It is an extremely hazardous undertaking, however, as the aviator will be compelled to cross a range of mountains and elsewhere will have to fly over the ocean for nearly the entire distance.

Paulhan Likely to Try It.

Even if Curtiss does make the flight, Paulhan is likely to do it also as he always takes any risk to share in the honors achieved by his rivals.

An announcement probably will be forthcoming today definitely declaring that the aviation meeting, which began January 10 and is scheduled to close on the 20th, will not be extended beyond the date set.

Curtiss and Paulhan have been under a terrific strain for the last eight days amusing thousands by courting death hourly and both have expressed the desire for a few days' rest.

Perry W. Eldener, treasurer of the aviation committee, made public today his figures, showing that the receipts of the meet up to yesterday were $102,222, while the gatemen reported 187,189 admissions.

As soon as the meeting closes Clifford B. Harmon, of New York, who holds the 48-hour balloon record, will ascend in his balloon New York and make an attempt for the long distance record.

IT MAY BE STRYCHNINE.

Traces of White Powder Found in Stomach of Col. Swope.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Another conference between the representatives of the estate of the late Col. Thomas Swope and Prof. Walter S. Haines and Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, who are examining the stomach of Col. Swope, will be held here today. Dr. Hektoen has admitted that he has discovered a white powder in the stomach of Col. Swope that may be strychnine. Prof. Haines will make a chemical examination of the powder.

It is expected a full report from both Prof. Haines and Dr. Hektoen will be available tomorrow or Thursday.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Indiana—Fair and colder tonight, Wednesday fair.

Ohio—Snow and much colder tonight, Wednesday fair except snow near the lake, colder in east portion, brisk and high west and northwest winds.

Lower Michigan—Snow tonight and Wednesday, colder tonight; brisk and high west and northwest winds.

HORRIBLE FATE OF THREE IN FLAMES

Eldon James and Two Small Children Burn to Death in Their Home.

HOME IS BURNED IN WELLS COUNTY

Father Rushed in to Save His Babes and Himself Fell a Victim.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 18.—Two little girls lost their lives and the father, in trying to save them, was fatally burned, at an oil lease twelve miles west of here early today.

The dead children are Mabel, aged 10, and Leota, aged 4, daughters of Eldon James, an oil pumper.

The father awoke about 4 o'clock this morning and found the house in flames.

He tried to get into the room where the two girls were asleep, but failed to do so and was so badly burned about the head and face that he will die.

The charred bodies of the girls were found in the ruins of the home by neighbors.

Mrs. James and two other children escaped from the house without injury.

GOVERNORS GATHER TO TALK UNIFORM STATE LAWS

Washington, Jan. 18.—Governors from thirty states of the union met in the national capital to discuss the problems of state and of national interest today. Governor Willson, of Kentucky, the chairman of the committee on arrangements for the conference, was in the chair. In a brief introductory speech he referred to the first conference of state heads, invited in May, 1908, by President Roosevelt to meet in the white house.

Governor Willson declared that in his opinion no better means of devising improved and uniform state legislation could have been found than for the chief executives of the states to come together as they had and in a friendly way, with partisan feeling forgotten, talk over together the questions in which they all were interested.

HOUSE FELL IN.

Part of the wall of the brick house at the southeast corner of Main and Barr streets, which is the same dwelling in which Martin Howley killed his mother, fell in during the rain last night and the rooms were flooded. Deputy Sheriff Immel and the men from the central fire station succeeded in patching it up temporarily. The dwelling is occupied by Mrs. Fletcher, who is well advanced in years.

WABASH IS FACING WORST FLOOD IN HER HISTORY

River is Rising and Vast Damage is Seen in Conditions.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 18.—Wabash is facing one of the most destructive floods in its history and only the most favorable conditions with weather and ice will save the city from heavy loss. All the lowlands along Wabash river are inundated and service on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley traction line is expected to be discontinued this afternoon as cars are now running through 18 inches of water near this point. At Lagro, six miles east of Wabash, Fred Willey and his aged mother were taken from their home in a boat this morning as was Ed Boles and family. Much live stock has been drowned. The water swept through one street in the eastern part of Lagro, compelling suspension of business. Residents along the river here prepared for the worst and many have moved.

OHIO ICE GORGE MOVES.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—The great ice gorge in the Ohio broke this morning at several places between Louisville and Wolf Creek, its southernmost point. The break seemed to be the result of a general softening of the ice at all points, but rivermen say it is too soon to tell whether the great field nearly seventy miles in length will move out in its entirety or merely take up a new position further south.

When the acres of jagged ice began rolling, tumbling and surging down stream a score of shanty boats which had been dragged from the stream for safety near Kosmosdale, Ky., were caught in the rapidly rising mass and carried away. Landslides are reported at Henry, Bear Creek and Knob Creek between Kosmosdale and Otter Creek. Officials of the Henderson road, notwithstanding the information that the gorge had broken, sent the dynamite train on its way as scheduled to Brandenburg to be ready for any emergency.

GREAT GORGE HOLDS FAST.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—The great gorge in the Ohio, near Brandenburg, shows no signs of weakening this morning and a special train carrying one thousand pounds of dynamite left over the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad for the scene of the gorge about noon. The train was made up of an engine and baggage car containing the explosive and two attendants.

Forty men under the direction of Captain Lyttle Brown, U. S. A., and L. L. Casey, of the United States engineering corps, went to Stevensport, Ky., ten miles below Wolf Creek, late last night. The river at Louisville remained stationary all night at the flood stage and the exodus of people from the low lying parts of the city was halted temporarily.

The damage on shore here thus far has not been great, but the apprehension will not be allayed until the gorge disappears. There was a rise of over two feet in the Ohio at Cincinnati during the night and it has been raining in Louisville for twelve hours. With the quickest work possible by the dynamite squad, results at the gorge are not expected for at least thirty-six hours.

INSURGENTS SEE A PARTISAN TRICK

Rush to Taft With Plea They Do Not Stand for Game.

HAYES AND MURDOCK PROMPT IN PROTEST

Say Naming of James and Rainey on Ballinger Inquiry is Bad.

Washington, Jan. 18.—A new and decidedly interesting turn was given to the "insurgent" movement in the house today when Representatives Hayes, of California; Murdock, of Kansas, and Gardner, of Massachusetts, hastened to the white house to tell the president in effect that they were afraid they had been "used" by the democrats in the matter of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee and that the democrats were taking advantage of the opportunity to put two of their most partisan members on the committee for the purpose of making political capital out of the affair.

Hayes Squares Himself.

Mr. Hayes told the president that while he was an insurgent he did not intend to be placed in the position of helping the democrats to "throw mud at a republican administration." This he was afraid was going to happen unless some means of changing the democratic selections for the investigating committee could be devised. Messrs. James, of Kentucky, and Rainey, of Illinois, were selected by the democratic caucus for appointment under the action of the insurgent-democratic combination, which took the power of appointing the committee away from the speaker.

Then Came Vic Murdock.

Hardly had Mr. Hayes left the executive offices when Messrs. Murdock and Gardner walked in, arm in arm. They reiterated much that Mr. Hayes had said, but admitted that they did not see exactly how they were going to get out of the difficulty. A statement was prepared by Mr. Gardner and Mr. Murdock, which said:

"We called on the president and spoke to him about the personnel of the investigating committee, but nothing definite was arrived at. The president felt that it was not for him to indicate his course as to the future action of the house in this respect, but urged that it was of the utmost importance that the members of the committee should be men recognized by both sides of the house as fair and impartial in the investigation."

ROOSEVELT HAD NO AUTHORITY

Washington, Jan. 18.—Speaker Cannon today officially stated that President Roosevelt had acted without specific authority of law in appointing representatives to the third international conference on maritime war at Brussels, by sustaining a point of order made by Representative Harrison, of New York, against an appropriation for the continuance of the service of these representatives. Accordingly the paragraph making such an appropriation was stricken out when consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill was resumed in the house.

BALLINGER REPORT ADOPTED.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The conference report on the Ballinger-Pinchot resolution was adopted unanimously by the house today.

COMING TO PICK UP FEW POINTS ON PAVING

Kentucky Gentlemen to Confer With Author of the Barrett Law.

Piloted by John Blair McAfee, president of the Lexington Railway company, a party of twenty or more prominent Kentucky gentlemen will come to Fort Wayne tomorrow to canvass the street paving question and to confer with Hon. J. M. Barrett, author of what is known as the Barrett law, under which Indiana cities and towns have for some years carried forward their street paving work.

Mr. McAfee's party will be met at Indianapolis by one of the special cars of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company for the run to Fort Wayne, and will reach this city Wednesday afternoon. It is understood that its personnel includes not only prominent city officials of Lexington, but other leading citizens of Kentucky who desire to be more fully informed regarding the provisions of the Barrett law and its operation with a view of submitting a similar measure for enactment by the Kentucky legislature.

The law in question governed more especially the matter of petition and assessment for street paving, and was introduced in the Indiana legislature by Mr. Barrett while he was a member of the state senate.

GORGE THREATENS; THEN MOVES OUT

Authorities Were Preparing to Dynamite Ice at Clinton Street.

BIG JAM BREAKS, REMOVING DANGER

Tremendous quantities of heavy ice which swept down the St. Mary's river today massed about the new concrete bridge at Clinton street in a great gorge that caused the first alarm Fort Wayne has felt in the present flood season. City officials had ordered an attack with dynamite in the effort to break the gorge, when the great mass suddenly moved out, freeing the channel of the river and relieving danger which threatened both the bridge and surrounding property.

Of the three rivers, the St. Mary's alone has contained any considerable quantity of ice, and an immense mass of it which had collected in the torturous trend of the stream started moving this morning. First indications of the gorge became apparent about 11 o'clock this morning, when the ice began massing for the distance of a square east of the Clinton street bridge. The gorge grew with tremendous rapidity until it extended for fully a square on either side of the bridge and was momentarily growing larger and more compact, while the water was rising rapidly.

Ordered Dynamite Crew.

Mayor Grice, the members of the board of public works and O. B. Wiley, county superintendent of bridges, gave immediate attention to the situation, and in the face of indications it was determined to attack the mass with dynamite in the effort to start the mountain of ice moving. C. R. Jenne and a force of assistants were summoned to begin the work.

Half an hour later, before the men with explosives could reach the scene, another tremendous ice floe came down the river, carried with high velocity by the swollen current. It crashed against the sea of ice already collected with such violence as to drive all before it and the big gorge began moving out majestically. Ten minutes later the river channel at this point was clear once more, and danger for the time being was past. Close watch will be kept in order to prevent, if possible, any repetition of the gorge at this point.

Rivers Start on a Boom.

Rain which broke over Fort Wayne Monday evening and continued intermittently during the night started the expected boom in the rivers, and at 7 o'clock this morning the Maumee showed 10.1 feet at the Columbia street bridge. By noon the water had risen slightly more than a foot and was still climbing, but men familiar with the caprices of the rivers express the belief that the lowering temperature will check the rise before it goes to flood stage.

Rainfall from 5 o'clock Monday evening to 7 o'clock this morning measured 33 hundredths or approximately one-third of an inch, and early today it turned to snow which fell briskly for an hour or more. Monday was the warmest day Fort Wayne has known since December 1, and during the night the temperature went up to 42 degrees, but it lowered again and stood at the freezing point at 7 o'clock today. There was continued decline later under the brisk wind which started during the morning.

During the night the rivers showed a rise of little more than two feet on an average, the heaviest gain being in the St. Marys, which had been at a very low stage. All three of the rivers are, however, safely within their banks, and there will have to be a rise of many feet before surrounding property is in danger of inundation. The St. Marys and the St. Joseph at their junction are spread over a considerable territory, but both the St. Joe and the Maumee are free from ice and the current is moving swiftly.

There was additional flood trouble along the interurban line west of Lagro for a time this morning when the trolley line tracks were overflowed. Workmen, however, succeeded in breaking a gorge in the Wabash with dynamite, and the flood soon receded so that car service is uninterrupted.

Mayor Grice today received from Mayor Brand Whitlock, of Toledo, a request that he be kept informed as to flood conditions in the rivers here, owing to the important bearing of the local situation upon conditions at Toledo, where the Maumee finds its outlet in Lake Erie.

NO MORE FOR HUGHES.

New York Governor Not Disturbed by Presidential Bee.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—There is no buzzing of the 1912 presidential bee in the bonnet of Governor Hughes of New York. According to his own statement his declination to be a candidate for a third term as governor of New York has no political significance. The governor, who is here to attend a meeting of the governors, was asked: "Does your declination to run for the governship of New York a third time mean you will consider the republican nomination for president in 1912?"

"It means nothing of the sort," Mr. Hughes promptly replied. "It means simply that I intend resuming the practice of law when I finish my present term and that I will be out of politics. This talk of my being a president possibility comes from my friends and not from me, as I have not given the matter any thought."

Secretary O. E. Mohler will issue a call for the annual meeting of the Associated Charities, to be held in February.

ONE THIRD OF THE NEW COMMONS IS ELECTED

Lloyd-George Says Government Will Have Working Majority.

London, Jan. 18.—The further unopposed election today of eleven nationalists, among whom was William Redmond, representing East Clare, and three unionists, brings the total of candidates elected up to 222, or one-third of the entire membership of the house of commons. The unionists are still in the van with 99 of their candidates elected against the combined liberal and labor aggregate of 96, while the nationalists now number 27. Speaking at Newton this afternoon, David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, claimed that the results were exceedingly satisfactory to the government. "Unless I am very much mistaken," he added, "they indicate that the liberals will be returned to power with a substantial working majority."

The radical coalition fought more on the defensive today than heretofore, as of the forty-six seats for which polling was in progress they held all but ten in the last parliament.

Winston Churchill Up.

The front bench politicians whose fates were decided today were: Winston Spencer Churchill for Dundee, Sydney C. Buxton for the Poplar division of Tower Hamlets, Walter Runciman for Dewsberry, Sir William Snowden Robson for South Shield, liberals, and Alfred Lyttleton for St. Georges Hanover Square, the former conservative minister. All of these appeared certain of re-election.

The representation for Bermondsey, where John Humphreys scored a sensational unionist victory in the by-election of October last, also was in the melting pot and as Humphreys this time met an undivided opposition the seat quite likely has reverted to liberalism.

The German emperor has recently shown himself to be an excellent business man by the way in which he has pushed the sale of the manufactures of the pottery works at Cadinen, which belong to him. These pottery works, where majolica is the principal article produced, have been the kaiser's private property for several years, and he personally supervises their management. Apart from acting as managing director of the enterprise he also contrives to stimulate the sale of these manufactures among his friends and wealthy men.

COMES OUT IN THE WINTER TIME

And Shows Itself in the Same Place Every Year.

The herpes very frequently shows itself only in the winter time and in identically the same spot every year. When it comes out, a little poslam should be at once applied, and this annoying skin affection will quickly vanish. Poslam is the new skin remedy which has cured thousands of the worst cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles should immediately secure one of the special 50-cent packages recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 par may be obtained at Meyer Bros. and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

STATE DROPS OFF A CHARGE AGAINST LADUKE

Is Still Held for Murder—Criminal Docket is Cleaned Up.

In cleaning up the criminal docket in the circuit court Prosecutor Albert E. Thomas moved that the charge of burglary against Fred LaDuke, star witness in the Woodburn murder cases, be dropped, but the charge of murder still stands against him and the other can be docketed at any time the state wants it put back. The object is to get the records in good shape for the next term of the court.

LaDuke has been in jail for two years and will be held pending appeals taken by the other men convicted of the murder of Columbus Croy. If the appeals are unsuccessful it is likely he will be given his freedom and if not he will be again wanted as a witness for new trials.

Daniel C. Cope, forgery; James A. Leonard, burglary; Joseph Thompson, grand larceny; Louis Schroeder, petit larceny; John Farnan, assault and battery; Clifford and True V. Hutchison, grand larceny, and Fred C. McElfatrick, grand larceny, were the others disposed of. McElfatrick is still held under two grand jury indictments and the case dismissed was one docketed under the affidavit filed in the city court.

Shunned by Neighbors.

Martha Bryer, against whom serious charges were made in a complaint for divorce filed by John Byrer, has a cross-complaint in the superior court in which she says that she and her husband lived happily together in a respectable neighborhood for some time after her marriage and that this continued until he compelled her to move into rooms over a notorious saloon.

She alleges this made her friends shun her and that her husband became abusive and accused her wrongfully. Allimony in the sum of $2,000 is asked. Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss is her attorney.

Failed to Support Her.

Rhoda L. Theis asks a divorce in the superior court from Joseph E. Theis and charges that he has failed for more than two years to provide for her. They were married on December 3, 1902, at Findlay, Ohio, and she adds that he has frequently beaten her with his fists and threatened to kill her. H. W. Kerr filed the suit.

Rizk Goes to Prison.

Sheriff Reichelderfer went to Michigan City today to deliver Durgham Farris Rizk, the young Syrian convicted Saturday of murder, to the state prison.

In a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court Edward H. Scheiman says that Stella Scheiman has an "irritable temper" and that she refuses to live with him and their two children. They were married August 10, 1901, and lived together until August first of last year. William Fruechtenicht filed the complaint.

Apply for a Guardian.

Following the suit of several days ago to annul the marriage of James Baxter and Jane Baxter steps were taken in the circuit court this afternoon to have a guardian appointed for him on the ground that he is a person of unsound mind. Baxter was formerly a blacksmith at Arcola, and recently won a suit against his adopted son in which he recovered a farm that he owned.

YOUTH IS MISSING.

Friends of Charles Kline, Aged 17, Fear He Has Met With Mishap.

Charles Kline, aged 17, a son of John Kline, who conducts a feed barn on Superior street, is missing and his friends are much alarmed for his safety. He left the home of his sister, Mrs. P. G. Manock, of South Broadway, Monday morning at 8 o'clock to go to the feed barn, where he is employed by his father. The last trace of him that has been secured is furnished by a man named Putt, who saw the lad about 9 o'clock Monday morning on East Creighton avenue. Young Kline is large for his age and has shown no signs of mental deficiency, though he is highly nervous and has a very serious impediment of speech, the consequences of a severe attack of illness some time ago. He is said to have been satisfied with both his work and his home with his sister and had never intimated any purpose to leave. It is feared he has become bewildered and wandered away in an irresponsible condition. He has dark straight hair, dark eyes, wore a suit of overalls and overcoat and a corduroy cap. Information will be gladly received if telephoned to his uncle, Mr. Manock, of the firm of Bunck & Manock, on Superior street.

Louis Vallieu, a coal man, was in the city today and gave an exhibition of a new process fuel made from slack coal, which he claims is superior to hard coal. The test took place at the Krudop coal yards.

ACUTE CASE OF AFFINITY ON A CASH BASIS.

New York, Jan. 18.—Miss Antoinette Elizabeth Gazzam has confirmed the report that she had induced Mrs. Marshall Clark to withdraw a suit for $150,000 damages brought against Miss Gazzam for the alienation of the affections of Mrs. Clark's husband, who calls himself "Professor Niblo" and is by occupation a psychic and clairvoyant.

Miss Gazzam paid $25,000 to Mrs. Clark, but made it plain that she did so not because she thought she would be unable to defend herself successfully against the suit, but because she thought perhaps innocently she had done Mrs. Clark a wrong.

In return for this money Mrs. Clark agreed under oath to renounce all claims of any character whatsoever that she might have against Miss Gazzam; not to sue Clark for divorce and to oppose any attempt he might make to obtain a divorce; and, furthermore, Mrs. Clark swore that she was convinced that Miss Gazzam's relations with Clark had not been improper.

In making this announcement Miss Gazzam declared her independence of any further domination by Mr. Clark, repudiated the belief she formerly had expressed that he was her soul mate, and narrated at length the series of amazing events which led up to the alienation suit.

Miss Gazzam is twenty-five years old. Her mother, who died in the summer of 1907, left her $3,000,000 and an estate of thirty acres at Cornwall on the Hudson.

Miss Gazzam's father, Joseph H. Gazzam, formerly a state senator, lives in Philadelphia. He was divorced by his wife, who stipulated in her will that the daughter was not to see him. This wish of the mother has been respected by Miss Gazzam, but she occasionally writes to her father.

THE PLANS INCLUDE A NEW LINE TO FORT WAYNE.

Bondholders Get Toledo & Indiana Only After Stiff Bidding.

Toledo, O., Jan. 18.—By opposing interests the price of Toledo and Indiana Electric railway at receiver's sale today was run up to $1,058,500, an excess of $138,500 over the appraised value. The property was bid in by S. C. Schenk, of Toledo, representing the majority bond holders, including the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York. D. J. Cable, of Lima, O., presumed to represent the W. Kesley Schoepf syndicate, bid $1,058,000, supposedly with a view to securing a connection between Toledo and the Indiana propertys of that syndicate. The previous sale of the minority bondholders at $1,000,000 was set aside on technical grounds. The company operates from Toledo to Bryan, O., a distance of 56 miles. Details of intended reorganization are not announced, but are believed to include an extension to Fort Wayne, Ind.

PLANS UNKNOWN HERE.

Gossip Connects Maysville Project With Proposed Extension.

Nobody could be found in Fort Wayne today who was able to give definite information of the plans under which the proposed extension of the Toledo & Indiana property is to be extended from Bryan to this city. At various times, however, there has been rumor to the effect that eastern men who are financing the building of the Maysville line from Fort Wayne to Bryan were also interested in the Toledo & Indiana propery. The failure of the Schoepf interests to make the purchase was the chief surprise locally, as it was known that the Ohio Electric interests were anxious to secure the Toledo & Indiana to add it to the system which now reaches Fort Wayne by way of the Fort Wayne, Van Wert and Lima line.

CORPORATION OUGHT TO PAY FOR MEN IT KILLS

Governor Marshall Takes Stand for Employers' Liability Law.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—"I hope and expect to see an employers' liability act that will enforce that all injuries to employes, under whatever conditions of contributory negligence, shall be paid for by the corporation," said Governor Thomas R. Marshall today in Tomlinson hall, in a speech of welcome to the delegates to the twenty-first annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

"I believe it better that the corporations should pay a set price for an employe's injury or death than to be the prey, as they are now, of the ambulance chasers," continued the governor.

Shank Warns the Dry Ones.

In a semi-humorous address Samuel Lewis Shank, mayor of Indianapolis, warned the miners that if they expected to "take a drink" on next Sunday in Indianapolis, they must buy it on Saturday. He had been elected to administer the laws and he purposed to do it, he said, and turning to the governor, he added, "and if Governor Marshall would enforce the laws now on the statute books there could not be in Indiana a disaster in any degree proportionate to that at Cherry, Ill."

Representatives of the commercial and labor organizations of the city and ministers of several churches also greeted the fifteen hundred delegates to the convention. Thomas L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, responded to the addresses of welcome.

The anthracite miners of Pennsylvania are sparsely represented in the convention because they have no wage scale to negotiate with the mine owners at this time but all the bituminous miners are deeply concerned in a proposed demand for an increase of their wages that may be set at any point between ten and twenty per cent.

Expect $1,500 Delegates.

It was expected that when all the delegates arrived the body would number 1,500, the largest the union ever had assembled. Its representatives were to be welcomed to the city by the mayor.

It is generally conceded that the report of the tellers of the recent balloting for officers will show the re-election of Mr. Lewis as president, over William Green, of Ohio, his opponent. Edwin Perr, the secretary-treasurer, had no rival for the office. E. S. McCullough, it was presumed today had been defeated by Frank J. Hayes, of Illinois.

The socialists steadily have gained ground in the organization and are expected to be active in the convention.

MRS. CHRISTY WAS A HARD DRINKER OF RED LIQUOR

Father-in-Law Says Woman Got Drunk and Stayed Out Late.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 18.—The most bitter accusations against Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy yet heard in her suit against her artist-husband to gain the custody of their daughter, Natalie, were made by Frank M. Christy, the artist's father, from the witness stand in the probate court here today. At the opening of court Howard Chandler Christy still was on the witness stand. He continued his tale of reformation. The cross-examination was brief and was confined to the time of his absence in Cuba, when Mrs. Christy was in New York. He said there was almost a constant demand upon him for funds. The examination developed nothing of much importance. He was followed on the witness stand by his father, who said Mrs. Christy often visited at his home and that she often became intoxicated. At times, he said, she was accompanied by Purdy, the chauffeur, and that they often drank together. He said she was out many nights, averaging about four out of each week, and would be out until a very late hour, often coming home under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Christy told of often discovering evidences of a little party about his farm at Duncan Falls, where there would be a collection of beer and whisky bottles and imprints of a woman's and man's shoes.

He also said that Mrs. Christy was of a violent temper, frequently used profane language in his house and called her husband names. He said that on one occasion while at dinner, Natalie also being at the table, the artist left the table and Mrs. Christy immediately jumped up and swearing said she would kill him. She followed him into the parlor, Christy said, and attacked him. The quarrel continued, he said, until he quieted them down.

VARNELL AFTER NEW MAN TO MANAGE LOCALS

Dicker on With Indianapolis for Jimmy Burke's Contract.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Zanesville, O., Jan. 18.—If Manager Charlie Carr, of the Indianapolis team, and Claude H. Varnell, owner of the Fort Wayne club, consummate a deal that has been under consideration for several weeks and that was booked to come to a head at the annual meeting of the Central league directors, Jimmy Burke, who managed Louisville in 1908, and played third base last season for the Indians, will take up the reins at Fort Wayne when the season opens.

Carr is a partner in a sporting goods manufacturing establishment and is attending the meeting here to sell some of his goods. He and Mr. Varnell have had some correspondence about Burke on the strength of the announcement some time ago that he would not be used at third by Indianapolis next year. Sammy Murch has been secured for the job and Burke has been casting about for a managerial job.

He made a grand fight at the head of the Louisville team but is not especially popular at Indianapolis owing to the fact that he played with a losing club last year. He has been with St. Louis Americans and is an old head at the business. It is simply a question of price. Mr. Varnell has announced that he wants a high class manager and that he is willing to pay a reasonable price but can not afford to be held up. He and Carr have had a number of conferences with the probability that they will get together before the meeting is over.

Today the magnates went to work at the anti-farming rule which is being bitterly opposed in some quarters. Mr. Varnell is against it for the reason that he knows it was not observed last year and he also knows that he was a loser by it as he could have had both Lester Channell and Henry Butcher on optional agreements and could have had a clear title to one or the other of them at the close of the season. He had to turn down the proposition while other owners were violating the agreement.

The season will open, it is thought, about May 5 with a schedule for 140 games and the schedule will run well along into September. It is next to impossible to play on the north end of the circuit in April and the later opening date was agreed upon. Mr. Varnell has four players from Cincinnati and one from Detroit on options and this is one reason he is making the fight. He is willing to have the rule passed, however, if a penalty is fixed for violations and a guarantee put up that the owners will adhere strictly to the agreement.

Mr. Varnell has announced that he will have no exhibition games before April 14, as his experience last season indicates that the early games are injurious. He had some booking before that time but has cancelled them. The magnates continued the session over from last night to today and have been threshing over matters. It is believed the club limit next summer will be thirteen players and a playing manager in order to cut down expenses. This will enable the club to pay as good salaries and supply as good an article of base ball.

FIND KIDNAPED GIRL.

Four Italians Arrested With Young Woman They Stole.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Maria De Rosi, who was kidnaped early today, was later found by the police in a house with four men and one woman. The five inmates, all Italians, were arrested.

Maria's younger sister, Rosa, was also seized, but broke away and spread the alarm. There were three men in the cab and when the girls passed they jumped out and seized both. Rosa said she had never seen any of the men before, but that she was certain they were Italians.

According to witnesses the cab had been waiting for ten minutes before the girls came. The police are without any clue.

HOOK WORM SCOURGE.

That Is the Worst Health Menace in South Today.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—"The most serious infectious disease in the south today is that of the hook worm," declared Dr. Charles Wardel Stiles of the United States public health service, in addressing the opening session of the first national conference called for the study of this disease here today. While specimens of the hook worm have been found in the New England states, the middle-west and in the northern Pacific states, the disease is primarily one of warm climates. On the negro is placed the responsibility for the presence of the disease in the United States. Dr. Stiles said that the hook worm found here has been traced to the west coast of Africa "and it undoubtedly was brought here by the negro."

Twenty-five per cent of the cotton mills employes of the south are infected with the hook worm said Dr. Stiles, who based the statement on personal visits made to 128 mills in southern states.

James H. Hyslop, the brilliant phychologist, narrated, during a discussion of the Paladine case in New York, an original old lady's opinion of ghosts. "Ghosts!" exclaimed the old lady scornfully. "I don't take any stock in them. If you die and go to the good place, it isn't likely that you'd want to waddle back to this poor vale of trouble; while if you go to the bad place, you'll be kept there."

GOSPEL MINISTERS PLAN FUNERAL REFORM

Tennessee Preachers Seek to Make Services Brief and Honest.

Columbia, Tenn., Jan. 18.—If the recommendations made by the ministers of the gospel at a meeting here last night are put into effect, the dead will have but short shrift after their last earthly gasp as far as religious rites are concerned before the body is put under ground and the family and relatives are hurrying home to comfort themselves, perhaps with a look at the vacant chair. These ministers object, it appears, to making any comment at the services over the deeds of the deceased, but will in exceptional cases refer to the earthly career of the departed. These decided innovations as suggested and now awaiting further action at the next meeting are:

First—Funeral services hereafter shall be very brief.

Second—There shall be few, if any comments by the pastor conducting the services, comment, however, will be permitted in exceptional cases.

Third—The family shoul not remain in the cemetery until the grave is filled, especially in the winter.

Fourth—Sunday funerals should, as far as possible, be discouraged.

A DOZEN FAMILIES CURED OF ITCH BY CUTICURA

Showed No Marks but Whole Body Itched Like a Million Mosquito-Bites—Sleep Out of the Question and Life Became an Inferno.

DOCTORS AND DRUGGIST TREATED THEM IN VAIN

"The Cuticura Remedies are the best in the world, as I know from experience. In Dowlais, South Wales, about fifteen years ago, families were stricken wholesale by a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it is the most terrible disease of its kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitos were attacking you at the same time. Yet you could see nothing on the skin. But the itch was there all right and I sincerely trust that I shall never get it. I knew a dozen families that were so affected. The male members and myself belonged to the same society and, as steward, it was my duty to visit the sick members once a week for sick benefit until they were declared off. That is how I became so familiar with the itch.

"The doctors did their best but their remedies were of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a druggist who was noted far and wide for his remarkable cures. People came to him from all parts of the country for treatment but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that, after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the effect was wonderful and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

"I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen or twenty years. Thomas Hugh, 1650 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1909."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) CLEARING AWAY SNOW AT FIFTH AVENUE AND THIRTY-THIRD STREET.

SNOW REMOVAL IN HERALD SQUARE.

JACK FROST IN CENTRAL PARK.

New York, Jan. 18.—When a blizzard visits New York city it carries with it death and disaster and with its immense population there is sure to be much suffering among the poor people. In the recent severe storm thirteen deaths were reported, to say nothing of the unlimited cases of starvation in the densely populated sections, together with this a big storm ties up the metropolis generally, trains, wires, shipping and ferries are put out of commission, while often passengers are held prisoners in snowbound trains, where they almost freeze to death. New York surely is no place for a snow storm, there is no time for the admiration of the beautiful and the hustle and bustle of the city requires the speedy removal of the snow. To this end the officials make speedy efforts to clear the principal thoroughfares, thousands of men are employed in the work of clearing the streets of the snow and it is estimated that fully $25,000 is expended to place the streets in a fairly respectable condition, following a big storm.

JOHN R. WALSH.

It is probable that within a very few days John R. Walsh will be habited in the striped uniform of a federal convict at Leavenworth. The supreme court of the United States has stripped him of the last vestige of hope that he can escape the ignominious penalty of his deeds and but one more step remains in the complete downfall of this once powerful and militant financier.

There is no want anywhere of pity for this broken and wretched man who in his old age has seen his vast fortune dissolved, the mighty structure of his business crumble and his once honored name smirched with the odium of the convict. In most sad case he stands today, yet not without many by who would be glad to help him, though with none who can. John R. Walsh violated the laws and the law is requiting society for the offense. A few weeks ago a half dozen or more young men with the best of their lives still before them had they not fallen into transgression went the way John R. Walsh is going. The great doors of the prison swung open and into the maw of that dread charnel house, where alike the hopes of youth and the serenity of age go to burial, they were swept and so lost to friends, to society and mayhap to any future wherein the sun can shine. They were transgressors as Walsh has transgressed. They were guilty as Walsh is guilty. They were convicted in fair trial as Walsh has been convicted, though with the difference that they had not the vast means, the multiplied resources, the powerful allies to fight that have been the privilege and fortune of Walsh to possess. But, though the mills of the gods grind slowly they grind inexorably, and between the ponderous upper and nether millstones of the law Walsh has been caught and pulverized. It is a wholesome lesson to his kind and one much needed. It has come to be held, and not without great reason, that a rich and powerful criminal cannot be adequately punished. In more recent years that has been often confuted, as the case of Walsh and Morse and other big transgressors well proves. The lesson will not be lost, though it will not be sufficiently impressed until more of their kind shall have followed them.

At the age of 72 years John R. Walsh, once multi-millionaire, the greatest banker in the west, master of high finance, builder of railroads and the autocrat of fortune who asked no favors and showed no mercy, is completely undone. And an added pity of it all is that the best any one can now be found to say of him is that he is a grand fighter, grim and undismayed in defeat and game to his marrow. That is not much of a reputation to leave outside the noisome walls of his prison upon the wreck of all that once was his—nothing for which anyone will remember him very kindly nor very long.

Signs accumulate to give strength to the prophecy that Secretary Ballinger is going to have the time of his life when that joint committee of congress begins to worm its probe into the affairs of his office. That it is going to be no sort of a job which an African artist with a big brush and a bucket of limewash could as well do is best evidenced by the fact that the house democrats have had their way in the framing of their end of the committee. That Ollie James, of Kentucky, and Henry Rainey, of Illinois, are going to engineer the democratic features of the inquiry is the management's guarantee, as the circus posters say, that everything promised on the billboards will positively be presented without fail, rain or shine. James is about as large as a ton of hay and every inch of him is packed with fight. Rainey hails from Uncle Joewards and the love lost between him and the speaker of the house could be more than made up by any brace of tomcats in Kilkenny. So it is that what Secretary Ballinger's dearly loving and dearly beloved friends of the insurgent squad cannot think of will hardly get past the Kentucky gentleman and the Illinois prober. All in all, the secretary of the interior is likely to have gained little by getting rid of Pinchot.

The traction management's announcement that its motormen have been instructed to use discretion in the matter of stopping cars according as conditions may dictate, may be all right in the abstract, but it will get the patron not a great deal. The patron will have small means of foreknowledge of the car driver's purpose to use discretion, how much he is going to use and his notion of what constitutes a wise employment of it. In short, the discretion business will work out in actual practice about as the "near-side" stop has. What is wanted is a rule that everybody will understand, that will be deviated from only under stress of emergency and that will abolish the nuisance now imposed upon the street car patrons in this city.

Four years ago last month the Walsh crash came in Chicago. John R. Walsh has just reached the end of his resources at law and within a day or two will begin his five-year sentence in Leavenworth. Of course, the venerable financier, with all his shrewdness and penetration couldn't for certainly see four years ago how it was all going to come out, but if he had he would just about be himself coming out instead of going in. It is much to be a good fighter, but it is more to save time.

The peace omens at Washington were stray birds of another sort. The majority split is now about the size of Rocky Mountain canyon and still splitting.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE.

Man Killed in Missouri Was Resident of Fort Wayne.

Everett Nickols, who was killed by a farm employe at Cairo, Mo., Sunday afternoon, was a former resident of Fort Wayne and a son of J. T. Nickols, a merchant policeman residing at 1222 Clark street. William Vineyard killed Nickols and has been arrested and placed in jail for the crime.

The murdered man was fifty years old and has been in the west for the last twenty years. He drifted about and occasionally returned to Fort Wayne bringing along with him at different times carloads of western horses which he sold here. He had not been in Fort Wayne for fourteen years and his father had heard directly from him but once in that time until the news of his death was announced. I. D. Nickols, a brother, resides here and another lives in Michigan.

BOARD TURNS DOWN REQUEST.

The board of public works has turned down a request made some time ago by Mendel Frank for a permit to put up a gasoline tank in front of his store on Hanna street. The members of the board said they could not grant a permit in violation of the state law and that all of the tanks standing in the streets are obstructions under the law and can be removed if the police department takes the matter up.

GOT FIVE MINUTES AND THAT WAS PLENTY

Details of the Bloodless American Victory in Nicaragua.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—The story of a bloodless encounter between the United States naval forces at Corinto and the Nicaraguan authorities was brought here yesterday by the liner San Juan, which left Corinto Dec. 28. Among the passengers who left Corinto the day before on the City of Para was Captain Chavez, the Nicaraguan officer who had given to the American consul details of the execution of Cannon and Groce. He had gone aboard by advice of the acting American consul, a naval officer, to avoid probable danger against his life.

When Captain Nelson, of the City of Para, applied for clearance papers he was told that the ship could not leave till Captain Chavez had been turned over to the authorities. The captain told his trouble to the naval consul who wig-wagged the fleet lying off Corinto. Five minutes later Captain Oliver, of the Albany, was on his way ashore.

Captain Oliver bowed to the Nicaraguan commandant of the port and remarked "I'll let you have just five minutes to let Captain Nelson have his clearance papers."

The papers were given.

A Horrible Condition

Related by E. G. Moore, Whose Reputation for Truthfulness is Unquestioned.

As so many people of this country are taking Root Juice these days, and as a majority of them, after taking a bottle or two of it, praise it very highly, those who have not tried the medicine are doubting the great good it is doing will last. However, they have no cause to do so, as there are many living proofs throughout the country of the lasting good results from the Root Juice treatment.

That Root Juice is making hundreds of those who are taking it feel much better, no one doubts. If those who are rapidly improving under the treatment could have a talk with E. G. Moore, of Rural Route No. 9, Fort Wayne, Ind., (a man whose word is not doubted by those who know him,) they would be convinced that the great good Root Juice is doing, is lasting. Mr. Moore said: "Three years ago my wife was in a horrible condition. She suffered a long time with her stomach and kidneys. Several doctors treated her, but all of the doctors and medicines failed to do any good. She was almost a living skeleton, and a bundle of nerves. Her stomach was so sore and weak that the lightest foods would lie in it, and ferment, causing gas to form, and bloat her up as tight as a drum. When she commenced to take Root Juice she was too weak to feed herself, and was living on liquid diet, but after taking the medicine a short while she gradually began to eat solid foods and take on flesh and strength. The remedy seemed to soothe her nerves and in a short while she could sleep like a baby and her sleep was refreshing. The medicine soon had her up and around. That was about three years ago and her stomach continues to be all right. Her appetite is good and she can eat anything she wishes and digest it."

The evidence is here in abundance and the Root Juice people can prove every claim that is being made for the great remedy that is now being sold so fast at Bradley Bros.' drug store, 627 Calhoun street, Fort Wayne, Ind.

FIGHTER'S WIDOW ENLISTS ARMY OF WOMEN TO FIGHT TRUSTS.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey Says Fair Sex Suffer Most from Extortionate Prices.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Modern Dianas have joined the hunt for the scalps of the trusts. On the eve of the submitting to congress by President Taft of a special message regarding amendments to the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws a movement for the organization of a Woman's National Anti-Trust league here is taking definite shape and will result in the establishment of such an association within a week if the present plans are fulfilled.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean and founder of the Washington College of Law, has been mentioned as possible head of the organization. The plan now is to elect officers at a meeting to be held next week. It is understood that the group of thirty or more women of Washington who have interested themselves in the movement regard Mrs. Mussey as best qualified to take the presidency of such an organization and have virtually agreed among themselves to elect her to that office.

The women who have identified themselves with the project say it is more fitting that they, instead of men, should wage any war against trusts that control the output of the necessaries of life. Women are the household financiers, they contend, and they have a better opportunity to observe the results of extortionate prices.

MRS. ELLEN SPENCER MUSSEY.

The idea for the organization of a league took form at a meeting held several days ago at the home of Dr. E. L. Scharf, president of the National Anti-Trust league. Dr. Scharf is now acting in an advisory capacity to the organizers of the new movement and has sent out letters to the wives of members of congress requesting that the name of some prominent woman in each state be suggested as the state director or organizer of the proposed association.

Mrs. Mussey's name was also advanced at this meeting. In the Washington College of Law she is a professor of corporation and commercial law. She was also the law partner of her husband, General R. D. Mussey, until his death in 1832, and she practices before the United States supreme court. She was responsible for the passage of a law giving married women in the District of Columbia the right to engage in business and to control their own earnings.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFERING FOR EXTENSION OF STATE WORK

County Council Calls Upon Schools for Collection Sunday, Jan. 23.

In order to assist in defraying the expenses attached to the extension of the work of the Indiana State Sunday School association, the Allen County Sunday school council has asked that each Sunday school of the county set aside the collection of the fourth Sunday in January to be paid into the treasury of the association. A year ago this collection was taken the third Sunday in May. As the Sunday schools of Fort Wayne are organized into the City Sunday School association they will send their collection to the secretary and treasurer of the association, Dr. M. A. Mason.

The State Sunday School association is actively engaged in organizing Sunday schools in different parts of the state, where none now exist; looking after the organization of Sunday schools everywhere; keeping the Sunday school spirit of the state alive, and in various ways extending its sphere of usefulness. To carry out this work and meet the expenses, each Sunday school of the state is asked and urged to assist in bearing the expense necessarily incurred.

Last year the Fort Wayne City Sunday school association gave $25 for extension work and $23.75 for general expenses of the State Sunday School association. At the Sunday school institute, held in the Third Presbyterian church of this city February, 1909, the Sunday schools of Fort Wayne voted to pay $75 toward the general expenses of the State Sunday School association and $25 towards the extension fund. To meet this increased expense the city Sunday schools will find it necessary to increase their contributions.

The officers of the City Sunday School association are:

President—Geo. A. Philbrick.

Secretary and Treasurer—M. A. Mason.

Superintendent of Teachers' Training Department—Prof. T. H. McCormick, jr.

Superintendent of Home Department—Mrs. J. F. Martin.

Superintendent of Elementary Grades—Mrs. Ida F. Mason.

Superintendent of Missionary Department—Rev. H. H. Spiher.

Superintendent of Adult Bible Class—Rev. J. F. Vichert.

Advisory Committee—E. A. K. Hackett, A. W. Minehart, Rev. A. K. Zartman, L. F. Johnson.

The Indiana State Sunday School association meet will be held at Indianapolis April 25 to 29 inclusive and superintendents are urged to have their schools represented by one or more delegates.

Dr. M. A. Mason, local secretary and treasurer, is sending out to the Sunday schools of the city association his financial statement of the City Sunday School association for the years 1908 and 1909. Among the interesting figures and statistics presented, it is shown that for 1908 the receipts from eleven Sunday schools of the city and individuals amounted to $42.49; expenses amounted to $34.50, $25 of which was paid the Indiana State Sunday School association for extension fund, the balance in the treasury for the year was $7.99. In 1909 the receipts from fourteen Sunday schools amounted to $56.57; surplus from missionary institute was $8.51. Total receipts were $73.50. Expenses for 1909 amounted to $52.91, leaving a balance of $20.59. During the year just closed $25 was paid the State Sunday school extension fund and $23 was paid on account of general fund of state work.

ST. JOHN'S REFORMED CHURCH.

Sunday School Officers Elected and Reports Presented.

The Sunday school teachers of St. John's Reformed church will hold a class meeting on Wednesday evening, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. John H. Bosch.

At a recent meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school reports for the past year were presented and officers chosen to serve for the ensuing year. According to the treasurer's report the finances of the Sunday school are in fine condition. The secretary showed an enrollment of about three hundred children divided into fourteen classes. Various plans for the improvement of the Sunday school work and methods of conduct were discussed. From henceforth a special effort will be made to interest the boys and girls in remaining for divine worship following the session of the Sunday school. A banner is to be made and donated to the class having the largest number of attendants at the Sunday morning service during the new year. This will be known as the banner class and the children are much interested in the new plans.

As a result of the election, Rev. John H. Bosch was re-elected as superintendent and other officers are as follows: Vice superintendent, Adolph Grotholtmann; secretary, Christine Zollinger; corresponding secretary, Bertha Lindemann; treasurer, Gustave Lindemann; librarians, Fred Bloemker and Fred Hecks. So faithful and successful were the officers in their work for 1909 that they were tendered a unanimous vote of thanks by the teachers of the school.

Thursday evening the regular monthly business and social meeting of the Young Ladies' Guild will be held in the ladies' room of the church hall.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock an important business meeting of the congregation of St. John's Reformed church will be held, the pastor, Rev. John H. Bosch, presiding. It will be determined at this meeting what repairs and improvements are to be made in the present church building. A meeting considering these matters was held on New Year's, but as no definite plans were made at that time a second meeting of the members was arranged.

BETHANY CHURCH REVIVAL.

Despite Weather Meetings Are Well Attended and Interest Shown.

Unfavorable weather seems but small deterrent to the attendance at the evangelistic meetings in progress at Bethany Presbyterian church. This evening the pastor, Rev. C. O. Shirey, will preach on the topic, "Seek First the Kingdom of God." Special music will be rendered by the choir. Monday night the pastor delivered the second sermon on the topic, "The Woman That Could Not Look Up." Miss Agnes Stemen rendered the solos for the service and her work was highly appreciated. A number of the young men of the church will sing at one of the services this week. It is likely that next Sunday night's service will mark the close of a fortnight's evangelistic meetings. Great success has attended their conduct and Rev. C. O. Shirey is gratified with the earnest and sincere manner in which the people have responded.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

Officers Chosen at Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church.

At the annual financial meeting of the congregation of Grace Lutheran church, held this week, the church treasurer and collectors were chosen. Charles Greiner, sr., who was re-elected treasurer, presented a report showing that the financial conditions were excellent. The valuation of church property is about ten thousand dollars. Among various topics discussed was the building of a residence for the teacher of the parochial school. While this plan is at present under contemplation, nothing definite in the matter has been decided upon. If the residence is erected it will be occupied by Prof. C. P. Draeger. The collectors were re-elected at the meeting and are as follows: William Bartels, William Enz, Adolph Felt, Herman Bleich, John Hechler, Charles Greiner, sr.

A business and social meeting of the Luther society of Grace church will be held in the school hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Large Congregations Attend Bethel Evangelical Church.

The revival at Bethel Evangelical church is making excellent progress under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Clifford D. Rarey. This afternoon a prayer circle was held in the lecture room of the church at 2:30 o'clock and on Thursday afternoon at the same time and place a similar service will be held. The regular evangelistic service this evening will be preceded by prayer circle at 7:10, after which the pastor will give a few minutes' object lesson for the juniors present. His evening sermon topic is "The Story Must Be Told."

The members of the Woman's Reading club celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the club today with an informal gathering at the home of Mrs. C. H. Worden, who, together with her mother, Mrs. Susan Hoffman, have long been members of this organization. The anniversary of the club is always celebrated with a luncheon and today was no exception. The menu was an inviting one and the pretty serving amid white carnations for table decoration, yellow shaded lights and fancy yellow holders and place cards not only made the tables attractive but contributed to the pleasure of the guests. Covers were laid for thirty members of the club, the list including honorary members as well as those taking active part. Mrs. D. N. Foster presided as toast mistress and called upon the president, Mrs. F. J. Hayden, for the first speech. Mrs. Hayden took for her topic "Our Twentieth Anniversary" and was followed by Mrs. Walter Olds on "Women of the Twentieth Century," Mrs. Thomas Wright on "What the Club Woman Has Accomplished," Mrs. Charles E. Bond on "Our Next Members" and Mrs. Will S. Morris on "The Sunny Side of Clubs." After the luncheon there was an amusing guessing contest which consisted in naming the objects within sundry boxes which were wrapped up in the colors of yellow and white. A brief description of the contents was given with each box, but the correct guess proved quite difficult.

Kindler—Mungovan.

A very lovely bride was Miss Genevive Mungovan, whose marriage to Mr. Frank J. Kindler, of Huntington, was celebrated in St. Patrick's Catholic church this morning at 9 o'clock. Two uncles of the bride, Rev. Thomas Mungovan, of Indiana Harbor, and Rev. Edward Mungovan, of Arcola, assisted Rev. J. F. Delaney in the ceremony and rendering of the nuptial mass. Miss Frances Welch sang the offertory and "Ave Marie." The bride entered the church with her father, Judge J. Frank Mungovan, who gave her away. The bridal costume was a suit of chiffon broadcloth in one of the new shades, with a waist of embroidery and net to match and a wistaria beaver hat trimmed with wings. The bride carried her prayerbook and wore a corsage bouquet of white rosebuds and violets. Miss Agnes Cunningham, the bridesmaid, was gowned in pink chiffon satin, elaborately braided and she wore a pink hat and held an arm bouquet of pink roses. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Dennis Gorman, of Huntington. After the service at the church the bridal party, together with immediate relatives, were driven to the home of the bride's parents in South Harrison street, where congratulations were extended. At the wedding breakfast there were present a few friends of the bride and groom, besides the family relatives. The decorations were in beautiful taste with a bell of smilax and ferns over the center of the table and garlands of smilax, pink roses, ferns and plumosus were used in the room and on the table, where a bride's cake occupied a conspicuous place. Among the out of town guests present were Mr. F. J. Kindler, father of the bridegroom; Miss Theresa Kindler, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kindler and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kindler, all of Huntington. The bride and groom went east on their wedding trip and will make their home in Huntington, where Mr. Kindler, who is in the insurance business, is well known and highly regarded.

Cording—Weaver.

There was a pretty home wedding at the residence of Mrs. Wealtha Weaver, 236 West Butler street, on Monday afternoon, when her daughter, Miss Glenn Weaver, and Mr. Walter R. Cording, of Decatur, were married by Rev. C. Cland Travis, pastor of the Wayne Street M. E. church. The bride wore a becoming and stylish gown of lavender satin with trimmings of point lace and she held American beauty roses. After the ceremony an elaborate dinner was served the wedding party which consisted of immediate relatives and a few friends. The decorations throughout were pink and green. In the evening the bride and groom left for an eastern trip and on their return will make their home in Chicago, as Mr. Cording has a responsible position with the Illinois Steel company. For traveling the bride wore a dark blue diagonal cloth with a small fur turban trimmed with roses and foliage. The bride has many friends but few of whom had any hint of the coming wedding. Mr. Cording's parents live near Decatur and are well known people of Adams county. The bride is a niece of C. J. Weaver, of Decatur and has many friends made on visits to that city.

Beaver, of Columbia avenue, when their daughter, Miss Edna Beaver, became the bride of Mr. Leander Stratton, a son of the late Irwin Stratton, and a former resident of this city. Rev. J. K. Cecil performed the ceremony at 5 o'clock. Today the bride and groom left for Gary, where Mr. Stratton is employed in the steel works. The bride is a pretty looking young woman who recently graduated from the High and Manual Training school.

Mrs. Potter is a woman of unusual abilities and is well equipped in information and natural ability to occupy a prominent place on the lecture platform. Her subject in this city is "Women and Economics" and it will doubtless be presented in a manner to attract the attention of men and women and youth, as well as those of maturer years.

FASHION TO WEAR WHEN MOTORING—PRACTICAL MOTORING OUTFIT.

This neat little motoring bonnet is warranted to stay on the head even in a hard wind, for it fits snugly over the hair, and the long veil of substantial chiffon cloth may be turned up over the crown and tied securely beneath the chin. When draped back the veil is looped through two straps which are sewed on the coat at the collar, as illustrated.

CARE FOR WEAK EYES DURING COLD WEATHER

Persons whose eyes are not strong should know that cold weather is often harmful and weakening to the eyelids and that lotions and washes stimulate and help an unhealthy condition.

Taking cold in the eyes is not unusual with those whose sight is sensitive to weather conditions, and when low temperature causes the eyes to water pain may be felt. To obviate this trouble the flow of moisture should be checked or regulated.

And a French lotion that is recommended for this state is made from 100 grams of cornflower water, ten grams of cologne water, five grams of cherry laurel water and four grams of pure boracic acid. Mix these in a bottle and stand for three days, shaking occasionally. At the end of that time strain the liquid through coarse brown paper.

For use, dilute by adding double the quantity of hot water, and bathe the eyes with a soft cloth. Only a small quantity should be diluted at a time.

No application should ever be put on the eyes until they have been thoroughly cleansed. This is true even of boracic acid water, which is, in itself, cleansing. It will be more efficacious if the eyes are first bathed with hot water.

A simpler lotion than that given above, which will act in some cases, is made from one-half a gram of borax, five grams of quince seed mucilage, two and one-half grams of cherry laurel water and fifty grams of distilled water. This is diluted like the other and dropped into the eye with a glass dropper.

JACK HORNER PIE.

A "Jack Horner" pie representing a snowball is an exceedingly easy model to copy at home.

In developing it an opening at one end must be fashioned from wire and then covered with white paper. It is not necessary that the globe be perfect, because another covering of white batting is added, roughened a little to look like snow and then the ball is powdered with frosting.

It should be hung (after being filled with the favors) open end upward, from which the ribbons attached to the packages will run to each place at table. These end in a tiny spray of artificial holly to be used as a boutonniere.

PRETTY OVERBLOUSE.

A pretty accessory which any girl could make for herself at little trouble or expense is an overblouse formed from satin folds in diamond trellis effect.

This little garment is cut low in the neck, following the lines of a jumper. The folds are of the same color as the dress and must be taken into a belt or sash of ribbon to match. It is surprising how much the addition of this blouse improves a plain frock. A tall girl could trim a plain skirt with a broad band of the trellis a foot or so above the hem and find it becoming to her.

KILL OFF THE HELPLESS.

Harvard Professor Out-Osiers Osler in Barbaric Doctrine.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—"Dispensing of charity by cities and towns to the old and physically impaired should be abolished, because the recipients of such charity have ceased to be useful to the world and considerations of economy require that the money should be devoted to saving younger and more hopeful cases," declared Dr. William T. Porter, professor of physiology at Harvard for the past seventeen years, in his weekly lecture before the Harvard Medical school.

Dr. Porter added that in his opinion sanitariums should use discrimination in admitting patients, as there is not room for all, and that only the most promising cases should be admitted.

"The unpromising ones should be allowed to die," he said.

The educator admitted that he spoke from the standpoint of the experimental naturalist rather than of the humanitarian.

DOYLE CASE DISMISSED.

Judge Carpenter Told Him He Must Be Good to Wife.

The surety of the peace case against John Doyle, who chased his wife and daughter-in-law out of their home in their bare feet a short time ago, was before Wilbur Carpenter, special judge in the city court today, and got a good lecture. The case against him was dismissed on his promise to be good.

The new judge also thought that men ought not come from dry territory to Fort Wayne and get drunk so he fined Walter Wilson, of Warsaw, $5 and costs.

STYLISH ONE-PIECE APRON.

By Mrs. Jane Ford.

4 SIZES 32 TO 44 BUST

Every woman needs aprons, and the busy housewife who does not wish to give much time to developing these garments will appreciate this opportunity to obtain a pattern for an apron that is in one piece and that can be cut out and completely finished in less than twenty minutes.

Those who wish the pattern can get it in four sizes that will fit any woman whose bust measure is between thirty-two and forty-four inches.

This model is most economical, for in the medium sizes it requires only three yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide, or two and one-half yards of thirty-six inch fabric.

The diagram shows how the pattern must be laid on the material, with the centre front on a fold of the goods. The darts under the arms fit the figure and they must be stitched before the shoulder seam is sewed. Perforations in the tissue indicate where the pocket is to be placed, and a button and a buttonhole close the garment at the back.

The edges of the apron can be finished with a narrow hem, a facing or a binding. But when a facing is used the stripe should be of the same or contrasting goods or cut on the bias, and not more than one and one-half inches wide. If applied to the right side it will add much to the appearance of the garment.

An apron that will give excellent wear can be made from plain or striped mohair, and while the material is slightly more expensive than those generally used for the purpose it will outwear several pieces of gingham or chambray.

Pop Overs.

Beat two eggs with out separating, then add them to two cupfuls of milk, stirring while adding. Pour this mixture upon two cupfuls of flour, to which has been added a level teaspoonful of salt. Beat until very light and smooth; strain through a sieve, heat the greased pop over pans until quite hot, fill them half full with the pop over batter and bake in a quick oven for twenty-five minutes.

Stuffed Eggs.

Boil one-half dozen eggs hard, shell, cut them in two lengthwise; remove the yolks and mash them fine with an equal quantity of bread soaked in milk and pressed well, a little melted butter, pepper, salt, chopped parsley and just the faintest suspicion of young onion also minced. Bind this together with the yolk of a raw egg; stuff the whites with the mixture and give each the appearance of containing a whole yolk. Put the rest of the stuffing on a buttered baking dish, pour a cream sauce over, sprinkle with bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake for ten minutes.

A SAFE TONIC FOR MOTHERS

WHO DO NOT RECOVER THEIR STRENGTH AS THEY SHOULD.

Not Every Tonic Is Suited for Their Use but the Remedy That Cured This Woman Is Safe and Efficient.

Every mother, who fails to regain her strength and health after confinement, needs a tonic. The years of weakness and suffering, which so often follow are unnecessary and easily avoidable. The fact that her strength does not return is a certain indication that the blood has been overtaxed and is impoverished. This condition is often made worse, when the mother takes up her household duties while she is still weak, for then a complete breakdown results.

The strength that the weak mother needs can be quickly found in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are a blood builder and they soon furnish the entire body with a health-bearing stream of pure blood.

Mrs. Alice A. Smith, of No. 226 Flagg street, Aurora, Ill., says:

"For several years I suffered intensely from weakness, following childbirth, which caused nervous headaches, pains in my right side and across my kidneys. I grew thin, had no appetite and was thoroughly dejected. I dragged myself about trying to do work which had to be done and which I did after a fashion. I was always constipated and this made my weakness worse. My legs and feet would cramp and many a night I could not sleep because of this. The muscles of my legs would knot up and the swelling last for several days at a time. I was bothered with palpitation of the heart, coughed a great deal and my lungs felt sore.

"The doctors did not help me although I was under their treatment for nearly two years. I then tried various remedies but with no better results until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a few days I began to show marked improvement and kept on taking the pills. About the middle of the second week I felt some like living. I used the pills until cured and have used no medicine of any kind since, except for colds."

Every mother should have our booklets, "Plain Talks to Women" and "Care of the Baby", which will be sent free upon postal card request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

IN THE THEATERS

MUSICAL EVENT OF SEASON.

G. P. Huntley, London's Funniest Comedian, in "Kitty Grey" Tonight.

"London's funniest comedian!" Such is the reputation of G. P. Huntley, who heads the musical play, "Kitty Grey," which will be seen here at the Majestic this evening. For four seasons some years ago he toured the country as a member of the Kendals' company. Then he returned to London and built up a reputation as a comedian in musical comedy. A few years ago he returned to the United States as the principal comedian in the support of Edna May in "The Three Little Maids." His greatest hit, however, has been made in "Kitty Grey."

In England, Huntley is always referred to as "G. P." His entire name is George Patrick Huntley, and he was born in Fermoy, County Cork, Ireland. He comes of a theatrical family, his mother, father, grandmother and grandfather having preceded him in the profession. There was some idea that the youthful George Patrick might enter the church, but he made up his mind for himself and promptly chose the work in which his forefathers had distinguished themselves. His great diversion is the turf, and he has quite a reputation in this field, too. His record as a horse owner has been exceptional. The first season he won eleven out of the fourteen races in which his horses were entered. Attached to his stable is one of the cleverest trainers in England, John F. Hallick. Huntley's racing colors are claret and apple green, and he declares he chose these colors with the hope that the rest of the field would "drop dead" on seeing such an inartistic combination In still another direction Huntley has been most fortunate, namely, in choosing an American as his wife. On the stage she is known as Eva Kelly, and in "Kitty Grey" she is seen as Sadie Poulson, an American heiress. Huntley met Miss Kelly when she was a member of Edna May's company at the Duke of York's theater, in London.

"Arsene Lupin" Coming.

In "Arsene Lupin," the much discussed detective-thief play, which is to be seen here shortly, the authors have defied all the traditions of playwriting, inasmuch as they keep the audience in the dark until the third act. It has always been said that an audience should be led into the secret at the beginning, even though the actors apparently are in the dark. All through the first two acts of "Arsene Lupin" there is a guessing contest going on in the minds of the audience as to the identity of the thief.

New Play Wins High Favor.

There could hardly be more forceful expression of loyalty to and admiration for the work of the Preston-Brickert players than that given Monday by two good-sized audiences that traveled through about the most miserable weather of the winter to see the stock players in their newest production, "Her Dark Marriage Morn." Plainly, the Bertha M. Clay story in dramatized form won high favor, for the applause was genuine, hearty and repeated. The story is an engaging tale of love and jealousy, plot and counterplot, largely centered about a likable young American in Europe, and Beatrice Lovel, adopted daughter of Lady Temple, and for whose hand numerous suitors are striving. Naturally the young American finally wins, but he does so only after some tempestuous experiences. Miss Eaton, as Beatrice Lovel, is giving a most pleasing interpretation and her gowns elicit much admiration from the feminine portion of the audience this week. Mr. Brickert, as the young American, is happily cast and will win new laurels in the part. Mr. Kemp, as Lord Rawdon, does a difficult part extremely well, and Miss Brennan and Mr. Greenfield are also conspicuous for their good work in the comedy roles. "Her Dark Marriage Morn" will be given Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with matinees each day, and it promises to find high favor during the week.

When "The Cow Puncher" is revived for the two performances on Saturday, Mr. Preston will be seen in the role of "Tom Lawton," previously played by Mr. Brickert. This is the character in which Mr. Preston starred for one entire road season.

THE SECRET OUT.

"What made my lovely complexion? I do not like to tell, for it was medicine, but the nicest a woman ever took. It was Lane's Family Medicine that did it." This is a pleasant herb tea which acts favorably on the stomach and bowels, purifying the blood and cleansing the skin like magic. It cures headache and backache. Druggists and dealers sell it, 25c.

GOOD BILL AT TEMPLE.

The bill at the Temple is just as the management advertised, one of the season's best offerings; in fact, it is one of the very best that the popular theater has ever offered. The headline attraction this week is a big military sketch with fifteen men in the cast, entitled "In Luzon" and was greeted with such enthusiasm yesterday by the large audience. It is one of the most sensational acts ever presented in this city. The Bison City Quartet have a unique and clever act and sang themselves into popular favor with the audience. Their voices are all good, their songs well selected and their make-up is unusually comical. "The Man in the Kimona," Al Tyrrel, is one of the stars of the week, he is billed as vaudeville's foremost singing comedian and he certainly deserves that title. Marion and Rial are presenting a powerful playlet entitled "The Witch's Power," which held the audience spellbound. It is entirely different from anything ever presented here. The act was a big hit. Haynes and Wynne have a great dancing act and the Musical Hughes came in for a good share of applause as did the Hickey Triplets, in their clever acrobatic act. The Temple motion pictures are unusually good this week.

THE LYRIC THEATER.

Delmore and Darrell are scoring a big hit at the Lyric this week with a very novel and exceedingly interesting act called "Vaudeville as Seen Behind the Scenes." This is one of the best comedy acts of its kind that has ever appeared at this popular family theater. The Booth Trio in "Cyclists' Craziness" are very clever and their comedy is good. An original comedian is Murray Bennett, with plenty of good songs and stories. The new pictures are very good.

Many little lives have been saved by Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is the only safe remedy for infants and children as it contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and children like Foley's Honey and Tar. Careful mothers keep a bottle in the house. Refuse substitutes. Dreier Bros.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to express thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy; also Rev. Miller, of St. Paul's church, and choir of St. Paul's congregation; also for beautiful floral offerings during sickness and death of our daughter and sister.

Store Editorial

We are conducting this popular sale without in the least sacrificing the "Shields Quality," so justly famous.

This sale is merely a reduction in price of the goods in our regular stock. There are no specially bought trifles, no shoddy clothing, no seconds, to make alluring prices. Everything maintains the identical quality for which you would pay from ten to thirty-five per cent more two weeks ago.

Pay days today will make tomorrow a big one. Shop as early in the day as you can.

And So On Down the Line of 1000 Red Tag Pieces

Anty Drudge Tells How to Avoid Sunday Soaking.

Mrs. Hurryup—"I always put my clothes to soak on Sunday night. Then I get an early start on Monday and get through washing by noon. I don't consider it breaking the Sabbath, for cleanliness is next to godliness, you know."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, but godliness comes first, my dear. And you should keep the Commandments. Get a cake of Fels-Naptha and you won't have to soak your clothes over night, and your washing will be all done by noon; without boiling, without hard work and with more satisfaction than any other way."

Rough, red hands are the trial of most housewives. "I don't mind the work if I could only keep my hands nice," sighs the young woman.

You will have less work and nice hands at the same time if you use Fels-Naptha soap in washing clothes. Hot water chaps the hands; hard-rubbing on the washboard swells the knuckles. Using Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, you have neither hot water, hard-rubbing nor nauseous steam. But Fels-Naptha must be used the Fels-Naptha way—no boiling.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The ticket office of the Wabash depot has been handsomely painted.

Ed Clausmeyer rode fifty miles today, notifying the grand jury to report.

Loren R. Davis has been elected as manager of the Academy of Music roller skating rink.

Rev. Father Duehmig, of Avilla, is seriously opposed to roller skating. He thinks it detrimental to health.

Clem Edgerton and a number of other society young men will give a german at the Standard club Monday evening.

Joseph H. Thomas, agent for the Babcock chemical engines, of Cleveland, is in the city. Mr. Thomas is the guest of John Mohr, Will Breen and Rob DeWald.

Barney O'Connor and W. A. Foote returned from Chicago last night and completed arrangements for the construction of the skating rink at the corner of Main and Fulton streets. The appointments of the resort will be as elegant and complete as it is possible for money to make them.

On account of the strike of the Pittsburg trainmen, Mayor Zollinger this morning summoned the police authorities to the city hall and after a brief consultation the mayor decided to swear in four hundred special police officers. He began the work at once, and citizens are clothed with police power as rapidly as they can be picked up. The strike is hurting business, here, and merchants suffer from the blockade.

Andrew Glutting leaves next Tuesday for Washington, D. C., where a week from that day he will wed Miss Katie Krauskaupf, daughter of Mrs. F. Krauskaupf, of the United States treasury department. Miss Krauskaupf is quite a favorite here, where she has frequently visited. She is a cousin of the Misses Lau and of the Mesdames Gust and Louis Fox. Mr. Glutting is at the head of the real estate firm of Glutting, Bauer & Michael, and is one of the most popular and successful men in this city.

One Pill

Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills, gently laxative, all vegetable. He knows why they act directly on the liver. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

It is impossible to be well, simply impossible, if the bowels are constipated. Waste products, poisonous substances, must be removed from the body at least once each day, or there will be trouble. The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one pill at bedtime. All vegetable.

Grave Danger in Foul Air

That foul air is a foe to health is doctrine more preached than practiced. One source of danger which received too little attention lies in the exhaustion of fresh air in living or sleeping rooms. A fire or flame destroys oxygen, a candle kept in a confined space any length of time will extinguish itself. The only light which does not consume the oxygen in the air is electric light, and this fact is one of the strongest recommendations. It also leaves no odor, and is therefore still further promotion of health. Withal it is an economical light. Phone 2696.

THE NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

CHURCH IN WELLS HAS TWO PASTORS

Rev. Edward Hartley, the Pastor, Weds a Lady Who is a Licensed Preacher.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 18.—The Friends church at Keystone is better equipped with preachers than most churches, and this comes about through the fact that their regular pastor, the Rev. Edward Hartley, called after the last yearly meeting of the Friends, married a lady who was also a preacher. Rev. Hartley and his wife are both licensed preachers of the Friends denomination and in case that Pastor Edward Hartley is unable at any time to take charge of services at any of his three churches in the Keystone charge he has an able and ever ready assistant in the person of his wife. Rev. Hartley and wife have both been warmly received by their three congregations and they have every prospect for a happy and successful ministry in Wells county.

NOT FOR SOME WEEKS.

VanWert, O., Jan. 18.—A Fort Wayne newspaper has published an account of the marriage of Miss Edith Morey and John H. Krenzen, late of this city, there being no truth in the report. The marriage, which was supposed to have occurred in VanWert, last Wednesday, will not take place for some weeks.

TWO HOGS ESCAPED AND TRADED PENS

They Looked Alike and Now Owners Will Have Law Suit to Determine Which is Which.

Ossian, Ind., Jan. 18.—Two farmers living near this place are engaged in considerable of a wrangle over the ownership of two hogs and, unable to settle it, one of them has signified his intention of having the matter carried into court so that he can get the identical hog he claims to own, it being a case of two hogs that look alike.

The two farmers live on adjoining farms and a few days ago each of them went to a sale and each purchased a hog which resembled each other so closely that neighbors could not tell them apart. In some manner both hogs made their escape from their pens and traded quarters during the night.

Now one of the farmers claims he owns the hog held by the other and states that he will have it. With hogs at nine and a quarter the farmers are becoming greatly interested in the raising of porkers, but men knowing the Jefferson township mixup state that there is not a pound's difference in the two hogs under dispute. Friends have made an effort to settle the wrangling but have so far failed and attorneys have been asked advice by the man who claims he has got the wrong hog.

OFFICERS KNEW HOW BEER TASTED

They Sampled It in a "Blind Tiger" and Say Alleged "Near Beer" is the Real Stuff.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 18.—Godfrey Petit, who has been conducting a "soft drink" emporium on the South Side in the Dew Drop inn, formerly a saloon conducted by the late Charles Dandoy, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant issued by Judge Sturgis on a charge of selling liquor without a license. The affidavits were filed by Sheriff Clamme and the alleged "blind tiger" keeper was placed in jail on account of his inability to furnish bond to the amount of $200 in each case.

Several days ago Sheriff Clamme, Marshal Sauer, James Needler and William Painter were on the Southside looking for traces of the men who worked worthless checks on local business men and as they were returning home it was suggested that they sample the "near beer" sold by Petit. Some of the party were able to distinguish between the real and imitation article and Sheriff Clamme purchased four bottles as evidence. It is claimed that the supposed "near beer" is the genuine Columbia product and contains the same amount of alcohol that the kind sold in the saloons does.

WITH INTENT TO KILL.

DeKalb County Farmer Arrested on That Charge.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 18.—Thomas Shull, a Jackson township farmer, was placed under arrest Monday afternoon by Sheriff Thomas upon an indictment returned by the grand jury charging him with assault and battery with intent to kill.

This indictment was the result of an investigation of the fight between Mr. Shull and Henry Moore, a neighbor, over a line fence last fall, at which time Mr. Moore was arrested and bound over to the circuit court.

NOBLE COUNTY PIONEER.

Ferdinand Fischer Died at Home Near Kendallville.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 18.—Ferdinand Fischer, a prominent farmer and pioneer of Noble county for more than half a century, died at his country home seven miles southeast of Kendallville yesterday, aged about 85 years. Death was due to the infirmities of age.

He was born in Prussia and came to this country when he was twenty-one years old, locating at Covington, Ky., afterwards removing to this county, where he resided for fifty-seven years. For thirty years he lived on the farm where he died. He is survived by a wife and six children. The funeral will be held Thursday morning in the Catholic church at Avilla at 10 o'clock.

GETS SECOND TERM.

John W. Baker Reappointed Postmaster at Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 18.—Postmaster John W. Baker received notice Monday from Senator A. J. Beveridge that he had decided to recommend Mr. Baker for a second term as postmaster in this city, and that his name had been sent to the senate for confirmation Saturday afternoon. There is little doubt but that the confirmation will be given and Mr. Baker named postmaster for another four years.

OHIO OIL COMPANY SUED.

Bluffton Farmer Asks Damages for Use of His Land.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 18.—Damages of $1,000 are demanded in a suit filed in the circuit court by John F. Dickason, a Nottingham township farmer. The Ohio Oil company is made defendant. He recites in his complaint that in 1894 he leased his farm for oil purposes to Jos Burns and A. S. Hunt, who in turn transferred it to H. C. Ziegler and the latter sold the lease to the Ohio. The latter company erected a power station, he says, on his farm ten years ago and from this station ran rods for a distance of 80 rods to operate two wells on the Harris farm. These rods were placed against the wishes and over his protests, he alleges, and he demands the damages on the ground that he has been prevented from farming the tract of land for ten years. He also asks that the Ohio be permanently enjoined from using the rods any longer.

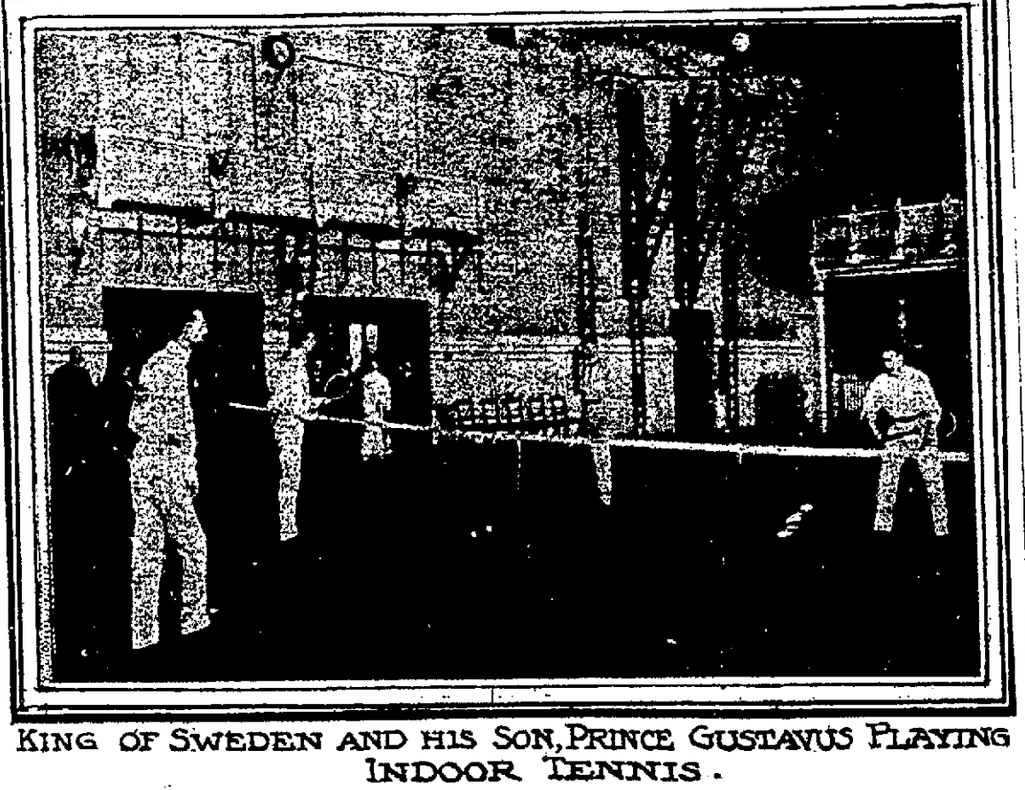
SWEDISH KING LIKES TO PLAY TENNIS, AND SO DOES HIS SON.



KING OF SWEDEN AND HIS SON, PRINCE GUSTAVUS PLAYING INDOOR TENNIS.

Members of the royal families in Europe have little opportunity to play cricket, football and other team games in which there is gratifying enjoyment.

They can go hunting. Some of them take kindly to skating. Now and then there is one who is a fair golfer. Tennis, however, seems to be a pastime in which all of them are more or less proficient, as they have opportunity to indulge their bent for the game on tennis courts.

The king of Spain is a good tennis player and so is the king of Portugal. The emperor of Germany is said to have tried his hand at the sport in his youthful days and the crown prince of Germany is accounted almost an expert.

In Sweden there is less time for outdoor tennis than there is in some of the other countries, because the season is short. Indoor tennis is very popular and the photograph above shows the king of Sweden and his son, the crown prince, indulging their fondness for the game on an indoor court. Both of them are fair players.

WOMANS GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.

The union revival held at the Lutheran church closed a two weeks' effort Sunday night. The attendance with but one exception was good, sometimes crowding the house to its capacity. Then men's meeting Sunday afternoon was well attended. Rev. Mr. Elzy, the evangelist, has made many warm friends. He left for his home Monday at 9:30 a. m.

About 4 o'clock p. m. Sunday a young couple called at the home of E. C. Carrington, who performed the wedding ceremony which made the "twain one." The contracting parties are Burl H. POE NEWS.

[Sentinel Correspondence.]

Poe, Ind., Jan. 18.—Charles C. Gallmeier's sale last Tuesday was attended by a large crowd of eager bidders and the fabulous prices some of the stock brought will prove the above statement. A team of large brood mares sold for $290 and $275 respectively; sheep sold for $12 per head and hogs were simply out of sight in price. Mr. Gallmeier will move to the Panhandle district in Texas, where he expects to make his future home.

Marion Smith is serving in the capacity of a juror in the superior court this week.

Messrs. S. F. Bowser and Ed Perry spent last Wednesday in the country taking their annual rabbit hunt with Mr. C. E. Morton. The day was certainly an enjoyable one as it snowed all forenoon and rained all afternoon.

Christ Bultemeier went to Fort Wayne last Friday for a few days' visit with relatives.

Fred Kell, of Huntertown, was corn judge at the institute and H. H. Roberts, of Poe, carried away first prize. Mr. Kell remained until Sunday in the home of his cousin, J. W. Fonner.

A CHEMIST'S OPINION ON SKIN DISEASES.

Meyer Bros. Co., the chemists and druggists, say that in all their scientific and business experience they have never found any remedy so successful as ZEMO for the treatment of Eczema, Itching Skin Diseases, Dandruff, Pimples, Blackheads and all diseases of the skin and scalp. They say that not only do its curative qualities make it popular, but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A wonderful improvement over the old greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that cause the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Meyer Bros. Co. will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about Skin Diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

BANISH THOSE GRAY HAIRS!

Kill the Dandruff Germs—Stop Hair Falling

Thousands of mothers are looking younger.—Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Wm. Croak, Rochester, N. Y.

It Is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS,
Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

RICKARD PLAYS BIG BLUFF GAME AT SALT LAKE

He Takes Lease on Pavilion and Arranges for the Fight.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 18.—With the closing of a lease by Tex Rickard for the Salt Air Pavilion begins the greatest game of bluff in fight promoting in this country. The contract gives Rickard control of the pavilion, which has been used for bicycle races, and the Nevada mining man claims that there is where the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held the afternoon of July 4.

The signing of the papers for the beach resort came after the interview with Governor Spry in Chicago had been made public that under no circumstances could the big mill be pulled off within the state. This apparently did not disconcert Rickard in the least, as he went right along with the plans to increase the seating capacity of the place to 50,000.

Rickard positively announced that the fight will be held here and he reiterated that he stood ready to post the $101,000 purse money that everything will go through as scheduled. Rickard is not alone in the venture, as some business men here are in on the deal. It cannot be said that the business community as a whole is backing the enterprise, but enough men are interested to make it seem as if the thing was on the square.

Despite the businesslike doings, those interested in things pugilistic are more or less at sea. Very few have any faith in the talk of the promoters that Governor Spry will go back on his word. One of the guesses is that the promoters have discovered a loophole in the law which they will spring at the opportune moment. Should such a thing be the case, it is not doubted for a moment but that Rickard can get all the backing he wants should he stand in need of any. The fight would undoubtedly be a great advertisement for the city and bring thousands of dollars here.

That there is an "Ethiopian in the woodpile" somewhere, however, seems certain, but what is the angle? That somebody is bluffing is a certainty, but who has the winning cards up his sleeve. Some credence is given to the report which has been in circulation for some time that the argument between the promoters was started for the purpose of calling everything off. The other is that Rickard and Jack Gleason will not be able to agree and that Jimmy Coffroth, by a prearrangement, will step in and pull off the go. This would let Rickard out of his promises here and turn the fight over to the original backer.

Who would gain should the fight be called off altogether has the local sports guessing. Of course, the fight has boosted the show business of the two fighters, but not enough to make up for the money which would be thrown away were the bout to be canceled. Another guess is that Rickard and Gleason have discovered that they have a white elephant on their hands in the way of an enormous purse and that they have taken this way in getting out of it. In that case the fight bids would be reopened and give Jeffries a chance to withdraw if he has discovered that it is impossible for him to get back in condition.

There are not a few who believe in this angle. Reports have been repeated that Jeffries is unable to get back into condition, and rather than suffer defeat by a colored man he will pass up the chance of making another fortune.

First Principles of Position Plays at Billiards

MAURICE DALY.

BY MAURICE DALY (THREE TIMES CHAMPION OF THE WORLD.)

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF POSITION PLAY.

1—Keep the balls in the "short" table.
2—Give short drives preference over long.
3—Avoid driving both balls.
4—Don't drive until you have to.
5—Land "dead" on the carom ball.
6—Keep both object balls "ahead" of you.

The virtue of practice cannot be too strongly emphasized. But remember the old saw, "There's a big difference in ginger." Aimless knocking about of the balls will not increase your average. When you see a valuable shot practice it repeatedly.

Diagrams, such as are used herewith, can only indicate general principles. Let one alter the position of the balls the veriest trifle in many cases and the whole character of the shot is changed.

So, after reading the points here made and shown in the illustrations, set the balls on the table and try the shot over and over—not only in the place indicated, but with sight and, in some cases, great variations. Then you will know it and recognize at many other points on the table the value of the general principle here enunciated. The late Frank Ives, now generally credited with being the finest exponent of high class billiards ever known, would practice for hours at a stretch and often devote half an hour to one shot.

In nursing balls in the "short table," especially with short draw shots along the end rail, a little carelessness often results in "tie-ups." I wish to give today two frequent examples of this. In cut No 13 is shown a a frequent little follow shot. Take great pains to land on the outer edge of the carom ball; otherwise you will be left in line, with a difficult masse or a scattering round the table shot. Diagram B of the same cut shows how to make the shot. This, like nearly all close position shots, requires careful play.

Cut No. 14 illustrates another situation in which a tie-up is threatened. By drawing too softly, just getting to the second ball, you are likely to leave a line-up or a freeze, or at best a masse. This is shown in diagram A. Diagram B shows that by landing a little harder you escape the threatened tie-up.

CARL CENTLIVRE CAN NOT PLAY BALL IN 1910

Has Been Declared Disqualified at University of Michigan.

Among the men disqualified for the baseball team at the University of Michigan this season appears the name of Carl Centlivre of Fort Wayne, who can not play in the university outfield for the reason that he played professional ball last season.

As a matter of fact he played professional ball the season before and semi-professional ball the season before that, but in the meantime he had switched from Notre Dame to Michigan and got away with it. After the showing he made here with the Fort Wayne team when he filled in in the outfield when the club had a badly crippled outfit his father told him he could go ahead and play ball for a living if he wanted to, and he has done right well at that, providing he used the same name in the Kansas State league that he used when he played in Fort Wayne.

Here he was known professionally as Lewis and the Spalding record for last season shows that an outfielder of the same name was attached to the Newton team. He took part in seventy-eight games and batted .268. In addition he stole thirteen bases, made thirteen sacrifice hits and only got one extra-base bingle during the season.

Centlivre is one among a number of college ball players who went to the bush leagues last summer, as much for the experience as anything else, and made an effort to conceal his identity under assumed names. Somebody dug up the whole outfit and although it is all right from the college standpoint, it will certainly shoot up some of the baseball clubs as the very best men have been disqualified.

Arthur Carre In Town.

Arthur Carre, former Concordia ball player who worked for a time with the Fort Wayne Shamrocks and who was badly wanted by Jack Hardy for his Interstate team, was in the city yesterday as the representative of the B. F. Goodrich company, of Detroit. He is selling rubber tires and has quit baseball.

SKIN DISEASES READILY CURED BY A SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT.

Persons who are suffering from blackheads, pimples, dandruff, eczema, tetter, ring-worm, or any form of skin disease, often ask the question, "Is there a cure?"

STORIES FROM BASE BALL DIAMOND.

Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons having ended his prize ring career, various surmises may be made as to what occupation the ex-heavyweight king will now follow. One vocation it is certain he will not take up—that of the baseball umpire, judging from the following story told by Umpire Billy Evans, of the American league.

"Several years ago when Niles and Youngstown were scheduled for an inter-city series," began his umps, "Fitz was selected to umpire bases while I was to officiate behind the bat.

"The ruby one did not show up at the start of the game, so I had to handle both ends of the umpiring game, which under the circumstances was not a very easy matter, as any one acquainted with the rivalry between the two towns well knows.

"For a few minutes things went along smoothly enough, but toward the latter part of the second inning I happened to render a decision very displeasing to the home crowd and players. This was the occasion for a riot. Before you could say 'Jack Robinson' I was surrounded by a mob of yelping players and I thought my finish was surely nigh, police protection being none too ample. At this moment Fitz came in at the gate, but the riot was soon over and I turned to announce my co-umpire to the crowd. Before I had an occasion to speak, however, Fitz turned to me and said:

"'I saw you surrounded by that crowd just now, and its six on the umpiring game for mine. I'll stick to the prize ring where I've got a chance for my life.'"

Here's the latest one on Kid Elberfeld, formerly a Yankee, but now a member of the Washington Americans:

Kid Elberfeld, citizen of Garrett Park, Md., the third baseman of the Nationals, gave Mrs. Elberfeld a Christmas present of $129. The sum was turned over bright and early on the morning of Christmas day, and was in five-cent pieces.

On Christmas day, Ruby, Mrs. Elberfeld was presented with $129 by her better half. That time the money was in pennies. During the coming year the ball player's wife will be given probably a larger sum in denominations of ten-cent pieces.

Two years ago Elberfeld, who is always pulling off original stunts, decided that he would buy a good-sized savings bank, and each night would empty into it all the pennies he had collected in change during the day. He religiously kept this up for one year, and on Christmas presented the bank to Mrs. Elberfeld as her Christmas gift. The sum, $129, exceeded his expectations by many dollars, and the scheme worked so nicely that at the beginning of 1909 he decided to raise the ante to five cents, and this past year saved up $129. This year, if all goes well, he will contribute his ten-cent pieces, and next year, well he will probably hike up the amount to nickels and dimes, as he expects to have a prosperous season.

Who said the Kid wasn't thrifty and original?

Clerk John Pauley, of the Anthony hotel, is confined to his home on Lafayette street on account of injuries sustained Monday in a fall upon the icy pavement.

HARTMAN TO QUINCY.

Bade Myers Buys Outfielder From Dayton Owners.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 18.—Owners of the Dayton club here to attend the meeting of Central league magnates, announced this morning that a deal has been closed for the sale of Outfielder Bill Hartman to the Quincy, Ill., club, managed by Bade Myers.

Manager Myers says he has two young outfielders for his Quincy club and that Hartman is just the man to teach the youngsters when to shift for the left and right field hitters. Bade figures that Hartman has several good years left in him.

CURES AT YOUR OWN PRICE—Every person who calls on me before February 1st will not only receive a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, but absolutely no fee will be charged during that time other than you yourself are willing to pay.

This is of special importance to every person who realizes the value of original methods. What I have claimed in reference to the influence of any Pelvic or Rectal Disease on the Sympathetic Nervous System and all reflex conditions is now the accepted theory of the leading scientists.

No man can afford to undertake his daily work without being fully equipped mentally and physically.

I know that success and happiness depend on body and brain vitality. The lack of force is always due to functional decline, to a diseased condition of one or more of the organs of the body, or to a devitalized nervous system. The man who is not right physically and mentally and neglects himself not only limits his future prospects, but is using up the physical capital he has already possessed.

Every man who does less than he should do at his desk, in the shop or on the farm is weak in some way. I have found that the man who cannot accomplish all he expects or hopes for is often the silent sufferer from some hidden diseases that affects one or more of the important nerve centers of the body.

OTHERS TREAT, I CURE.

These neglected or unknown conditions are usually diseases of the pelvic organs, which reflexly act on the organs of digestion, of elimination and the nervous system, which in turn has its influence on the brain. I have made a special study of the nervous system and have perfected methods that will CURE Pelvic Diseases. I will give you a searching and thorough examination and explain to you the true nature of your trouble.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, the bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken down nervous system and many or most of the troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, etc., are reflex and are the direct result of some pelvic lesion or disease.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct results of chronic or imperfectly treated Pelvic Diseases, such as Varicocele, Piles, Fistula, Stricture, etc. I not only remove the cause, but my many years of experience in the treatment of nervous and pelvic diseases enable me by my special methods to revitalize the entire nervous system and to restore to perfect health nearly all sufferers from nervous breakdown and vital weakness.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of blood poison and kindred diseases.

PROSTRATIC ENLARGEMENT—This may result from a number of causes. The constant jarring and vibration of trains and trolley cars are a very potent cause. Bicycle riding and the use of riding implements on the farm are factors in producing this disease. In fact the causes are so many and varied that fully 75 per cent of all adults are afflicted to a greater or lesser extent by this disease. The disease is so little understood, and as one of the principal symptoms is a pain in the back, it is usually called kidney trouble and treated with local applications or sedatives which can do no possible good whatever. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

VARICOCELE—I cure Varicocele in a few days' or weeks' time without the use of the knife.

STRICTURE—I readily remove Stricture by my dissolvent method without the use of instruments.

RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without detention from business and without the use of the knife.

If you live out of town wire or write on what train you will arrive and I will arrange my engagements so that I can see you at once.

OUR SHORT STORY PAGE

MYSTERY OF THE GENTLEMEN MARTYRS.

(Copyright Benj. B. Hampton)

By Richard Le Gallienne.

The Papers Blazoned with the News of Twelve Murders.

IT was the morning of September 13, between half-past eight and nine o'clock, and all the various so-called rapid transit conveniences for conveying business people into New York were congested, as usual, with men, women, and newspapers. For two or three weeks past the newspapers had been disappointingly dull,—nothing in them to stir the imagination in the shape of divorce cases, or feed the morning appetite for blood. Not a sensation in sight.

So had said the readers of newspapers on the morning of September 12; but on this morning of September 13 it was quite evident that a sudden change for the better had taken place. Something, surely, had happened—if one might judge by hungry, gloating eyes that were feeding voraciously on head-lines of abnormal size and every form of melodramatic typography of which a certain sort of American journal is capable. Among all the poster like announcements that caught the eye on every hand one was easily first in attracting the attention. In enormous letters, which covered almost the whole of its great sheet, it bore the legend and this promising title-page was decorated with a spirited border of cross-bones and revolvers.

Twelve murders in one night! The morning journey in subway, elevated, and surface car, was, for once, not a quarter long enough for the enjoyment of all the intimate details of this "unparalleled series of mysterious crimes," and, as Wall and Fulton Streets and Bowling Green were successively reached, it was with such a sigh as one puts down some enthralling romance that the enwrapt passengers alighted at their various destinations. Twelve murders in one night! Think of it! The conductors had to buy their own papers that morning. Not a newspaper was left in the cars.

The newspapers of the day, and of the weeks following, must be read for a complete history of these twelve murders. The printed matter concerning them would fill many volumes, and the curious may study all the details with gruesome photographic comment, in the files of certain New York dailies. Here we are concerned only with the main facts of the murders, and their subsequently discovered significance.

To begin with, here is a list of the murdered as printed in the most authentic New York newspapers on the morning of September 13:

Charles O'Hagan, residing at 720 West Fifty-seventh Street; hotel clerk.

William Jenkins, residing at 960 West One Hundred and Twenty-first Street; gate-man at the Grand Union Depot.

Ilkley Travers, of Travers Court, Chaldowns, England; staying at the Royal Crown Hotel.

Patrick McGovern, residing at 670 East Thirty-third Street; policeman.

I. Pasquerella, residing at 298 Mulberry Street; workman.

Eugene Kellogg, residing at the Hotel Bellecourt; manufacturer.

Adolph Mehl, residing at 327 Bonn Street, Hoboken, New Jersey; head-waiter.

Herman Rosenblatt, residing at 2927 Lenox Avenue; traveling salesman.

I do not propose to bewilder the reader with a tithe of the descriptive evidence on the part of police officers and others, which would naturally accumulate from the recital of the circumstances and conditions in which twelve men were slain in one night—though, later on, I may have to invite careful attention to the significant evidence given in court by Patrolman 4883, of the Twenty-third Precinct, and Patrolman 3902, of the Forty-fifth Precinct.

At the moment, however, I would draw attention to the occupations and nationalities of the murdered. Divested of names and addresses, they were,—

An hotel clerk.
A railway official.
An English visitor.
A car-conductor.
A theatrical manager.
A policeman.
An Italian.
A financier.
A manufacturer.
A German head-waiter.
A Harlem Jew.
A chauffeur.

One odd thing about all the crimes was that they had been committed almost simultaneously. Another odd thing was that each of the victims had been murdered in some characteristic attitude, or at the moment of some characteristic action.

There were also one or two other curious circumstances to which I will presently refer. But, first, I will make as brief as possible a precis of the fatalities as they met the eyes of newspaper readers on the morning of September 13. In fact, I cannot do better than reprint the precis made for the convenience of its readers by a newspaper deservedly famous for the solicitous, pains-taking rapidity with which it divines and supplies the wants of its particular public—that is, a public not so very particular, but voracious for particulars.

"For ready reference," said the newspaper in question, "we have here summarized the main facts of this most extraordinary deluge of crime. Readers desiring fuller details will find them on pages two, three, four, five and six."

In reprinting this summary, I shall here and there supplement it with some of those fuller details referred to.

1. According to the testimony of Erastus Johnson, bell-boy, colored, working at the Hotel Saragossa, Charles O'Hagan, the clerk, was at his desk, about twenty minutes past eleven on the night of September 12. The hotel hallways and lounges were empty, and everything was quiet, though in the dining and smoking rooms the rush of patrons from the theatres was momently expected. Presently a large touring automobile stopped at the door of the hotel, and a tall young man, followed by a valet carrying a suit-case, went up to the desk and asked for rooms for himself and his servant.

O'Hagan, who, it appears, was not of a very civil disposition, took his time, turning over pages of his register, as though he were seeing what rooms were left. The young man seemed to fume a little at his manner, but kept his temper. Then, at his leisure, O'Hagan said he would give him rooms 316 and 317. As he said this, he looked up, with a superior manner on which he prided himself—and gazed into the shining barrel of a revolver.

Before he had time to cry out, the stranger had pulled the trigger, saying as he did so, "In the name of the American people." Then, bidding his valet follow him, the stranger had walked calmly out of the hotel and entered his automobile, which disappeared in a flash. On the desk was found a card printed in black and red with this upon it: "S. S. A. N."

2. William O'Sheay, a street-car conductor, had finished his day shift at 11.30 last evening, and on his way home had dropped into Michael Mahoney's cafe, near Fiftieth Street and Seventh Avenue, for a night-cap. The place is much frequented by car-conductors and motormen, being in the vicinity of the Metropolitan car barns; indeed, it relies upon them almost entirely for its trade. But occasionally a belated gentleman on his uncertain way homeward, will call at Mahoney's. In fact, for three or four weeks past it had been observed that a scholarly looking young man of exceptional height and great frame had been in the habit of dropping in almost every evening about midnight. He always carried a pile of books and newspapers under one arm, was always dressed in black, and wore a gray slouched hat over his large, smooth-shaven face, and rather long hair.

At first, he had seemed an incongruous figure, in his out-of-place surroundings, but he had soon made himself at home with the usual habitues of the place, pleasantly chatting with them, particularly on political subjects, and standing his round with the rest of them.

The men called him "Professor," and he was vaguely supposed to be a scholar of some sort. From the first, however, he had never got on with O'Sheay, though, curiously, he always seemed to take particular interest in meeting him. O'Sheay seems to have been a surly individual of a mean and brutal type, known among his fellows at once as a bully and a sneak. The stranger seemed to delight in drawing out his amiable qualities, and several times it had seemed that a fight was imminent, but the stranger was too big, and O'Sheay too much of a coward. On such occasions, O'Sheay had been heard to say that he would "get even," but the Professor had only smiled a very peculiar, unpleasant smile.

When O'Sheay had dropped into Mahoney's on the night of September 12, the Professor was there, towering above a little circle of men at the bar. He had called to O'Sheay to join them, which the car-conductor ungraciously did. Indeed, O'Sheay seemed to be more than usually out of humor this evening, and presently high words sprang up between him and the Professor.

Suddenly the Professor turned to O'Sheay, very white and calm, and saying, "O'Sheay, your time is up—in the name of the American People," dealt him a powerful blow on the right temple. O'Sheay fell to the floor, his skull shattered.

Before the men in the cafe had time to recover themselves, the Professor had dashed out of the door and escaped—calling, however, as he disappeared, "This is not a murder, but an execution." A piece of paper fluttered to the floor as he disappeared. The bartender picked it up. It bore only the letters "S. S. A. N."

3. Benjamin Goodrich, the leading spirit of a well-known theatrical syndicate, was sitting at his desk in the Renaissance Theatre, one of several New York theatres, under his management—about 10.45 last evening, when his confidential office boy brought in a card. Mr. Goodrich turned his head slightly, looked coldly at the card, and said, "Send him in." Presently the door opened, and there entered a distinguished looking young man, tall and soldierly in appearance, with a touch of gray at the temples, and that look of alert langour which we see in the eyes of a Bengal tiger or a Highland Scot. He stood a moment or two after he had entered, awaiting some recognition of his presence.

Mr. Goodrich, except that he went on with his writing, made no more sign of life than if he were a Central Park crocodile. He was a heavy, apoplectic man, and as he wrote, there were two especially conspicuous things about him, an enormous cigar and an enormous diamond.

His apparently discourteous manner was one that he assumed—one would like to believe that it was not natural to him (after the occurrences of last evening)—when he was engaging ladies for his companies. With many of them it was said to have wonderful success. However, Mr. Goodrich's visitor this evening did not seem to appreciate it. He was evidently chafed, but he only showed his impatience by clearing his throat and moving his feet.

"Sit down," said Mr. Goodrich, after a moment. His visitor sat down, with a sort of exhilarated expression; as though he were rather glad, after all, of his reception; as though, in fact, he had been given a tonic.

Presently Mr. Goodrich, still writing, and without looking up, said: "What is your business?"

"It can wait till you stop writing," was the answer. And presently his visitor added: "You have few more words to write."

"What do you mean?" asked Mr. Goodrich, looking up stealthily.

"Never mind, go on with your writing."

Mr. Goodrich wrote a line or two more, folded a letter and addressed an envelope.

Then he turned to his visitor, with cold eyes.

"Well?"

"Have you finished your writing?"

"Yes."

"You are mistaken."

"Why?"

"You have still to sign this paper," said the visitor, "and there are many reasons which will be set forth later why you should sign it—but this is the reason at present."

And Mr. Goodrich found a revolver almost as big as his cigar at his brow.

"Sign this paper."

With the business instinct that had become second nature with him, Mr. Goodrich said, "Let me read it first."

"Of course."

And Mr. Goodrich read: "I die for the good of the American People."

O'Sheay fell to the floor, his skull shattered.

"Sign your name—you may as well, you are to die anyway," said the visitor, holding his victim in a firm grasp by the collar. Mr. Goodrich signed.

"Now," said his visitor, "having put your name on the only true statement you probably ever made, I am about to make you keep your word."

With that, he pulled the trigger of his revolver. It was charged with soundless powder; and Mr. Goodrich made no sound.

Presently the visitor passed out of the room, leaving the manager at his desk in his usual attitude, with his cigar in his mouth; and, meeting an office boy as he went out, told him that his employer needed him.

The boy, finding his master in his usual attitude, did not disturb him for some time, but at last Mr. Goodrich, falling ludicrously off his revolving chair, the boy became somewhat alarmed, and called in a doctor.

When the doctor came he picked up a paper from the floor. "What is this?" he ejaculated. All he could make of it was the puzzling inscription: "S. S. A. N."

4. Policeman Patrick McGovern was found murdered last night in a lonely corner of Central Park, near Seventy-sixth Street. The weapon used had been his own club. He had been badly beaten over the left temple. The only clue to the murderer was a card pinned on McGovern's sleeve, bearing the initials "S. S. A. N."

McGovern, it appears, was but a recent addition to the Park police, and was not popular with his fellow officers. He had already made himself known for a morbid dislike of children, and complaints had been made against him for roughly handling babies trespassing on the grass. He had been seen to club squirrels on many occasions, and his removal from the force was imminent.

5. I. Pasquerella, an Italian workman, was found murdered late last night in a trench being dug by a gang of Italians of whom he was one, for the repair of the gas mains in the neighborhood of Spring Street. Pasquerella had evidently been stabbed in the back and thrown into the trench. The only clue to the murderer is a common Neapolitan stiletto found near the spot, stuck through a piece of paper bearing the letters "S. S. A. N." This would point to the fact that Pasquerella was the victim of some secret society of the Black Hand type.

6. Herman Rosenblatt, aged twenty-eight, a traveling salesman, employed by the dry goods firm of Moses, Jacobs & Co., was shot and instantly killed shortly before midnight last evening, in the Lenox Avenue subway train, just as the train had stopped at the One Hundred and Sixteenth Street station. The murderer escaped, having cleverly timed his attack at the moment the conductor was occupied with the levers of the train doors.

For reasons well known to New Yorkers the Lenox Avenue train at the rush hours is known as "the hog train," and last evening the 11:35 was more than usually congested with returning theatre-goers. Rosenblatt sat next to the door, and conversed in a loud voice with two friends of his, evidently of the same type and profession, sitting next to the door on the other side of the aisle. Rosenblatt appears to have been a representative of a certain Harlem class of young men, loud-voiced, self-satisfied and impudent.

He and his companions discussed business with each other across the aisle, the price of kimonos, striped goods, and so forth, sprawling themselves out on the seats, laughing vulgarly, and chewing gum as they talked. As the passengers were not composed wholly of the Rosenblatt type, impatient looks were sometimes turned in the direction of him and his friends, entirely to their unconcern.

Between them, hanging to a strap by the door, stood an athletic young man, quiet and distinguished in manner, looking like a Columbia student. Apparently he ignored his unpleasant surroundings, but when the train stopped at Seventy-second Street, a fragile old lady contrived to make her way through the tightly packed wall of humanity, and found a foot-hold by the side of the Columbia student. Rosenblatt and his friends went on with their noisome gabble, but no one offered the lady a seat. The Columbia boy, however, had noted for some time that Rosenblatt was sprawling over nearly two seats, and so, turning to him, politely, asked him to make room for the lady. But Rosenblatt went on talking, as if he had not heard a word. The Columbia boy spoke again. "Did you hear me?" he said.

Rosenblatt nodded insolently, without looking up, and without offering to stir. "Oh, I see," said the Columbia boy, with repressed emphasis, and then, swiftly but calmly, he had taken Rosenblatt by the collar and forcibly set him upon his feet.

A murmur of applause went up from the car, and as Rosenblatt and his friends seemed averse to a physical encounter, and as the Columbia boy took calmly to his strap again, everyone believed the incident closed.

However, just at this moment the train had reached One Hundred and Sixteenth Street and the conductor was already drawing back the doors, when the stranger suddenly turned to Rosenblatt, and saying, "There are thousands like you, but you will do as well as another," shot him through the heart. In the confusion he then dashed through the gates, and, rushing up the congested stairway escaped.

The only clue to his identity was a card found on the platform bearing the letters, "S. S. A. N."

7. Mr. Ilkley Travers, an Englishman, who, for the last few weeks, has been staying in New York for the purpose of making arrangements for an international golf contest, was found dead, supposedly murdered, at 12:55 this morning at the northeast corner of Gramercy Park. Mr. Travers had evidently been dead for some time. There was no trace of the murderer, but the police are in possession of what they consider an important clue to his whereabouts. It is a card bearing the initials "S. S. A. N."

8. Francois Emil, Chauffeur (2236). Manager John Sherwood and his headwaiter were standing on the steps of the Cafe Palisades, seeing Millionaire Simpkin and party into their automobile, which was on the point of starting, when another car, a large French machine, driven at a rapid pace, suddenly drew up in front of it, barring its way.

The Simpkin chauffeur, Francois Emil, had scarcely time to protest, before a masked man arose from the second automobile, and exclaiming, "In the name of the American People," shot him twice through the heart, driving away at lightning speed.

9. Timothy I. Bryan, the Zinc Emperor, was found murdered around midnight last evening, in front of the Assay office in Wall Street.

The assassin had evidently been surprised in his act, for a revolver was found on the spot. It was a weapon of unusually beautiful make, and on it were engraved the letters, evidently, according to the police, the initials of its owner, "S. S. A. N."

10. Eugene Kellogg, a well-known manufacturer of patent fireproofing from the Middle West, was murdered last evening in the cafe of the Hotel Bellecourt. Mr. Kellogg was known in the hotel for the coarse lavishness with which he spent his money. It was evident that, being of obscure origin, his prosperity had gone to his head and his blustering self-importance had more than once offended the patrons of an otherwise respectable establishment. Just the moment before his murder he had ordered six bottles of champagne for three or four persons at the bar, who did not seem to greatly care to drink with him.

The five were sitting at one of the tables, and after the waiter had filled their glasses, a young man of delicate features, raised his glass with the rest. But, instead of drinking from it, he first proposed a toast —"The American People." At the same moment drawing a revolver, he shot Mr. Kellogg through the right eye, and, before his companions realized what was happening, threw a card on the table and ran from the room. On the card were the letters "S. S. A. N."

11. Adolph Mehl, head waiter at the Cafe Broadway, and known to supper-after-the-theatre-goers as the "Milwaukee Adonis," was shot last evening, shortly before twelve, by a young man, one of a party of four, two ladies and two gentlemen.

Mehl, who was well known too, but not very much liked by patrons of the cafe, was conceited and indifferent in his manner to men, and generally unctuous in his manner with ladies. It was this latter trait which seems to have been his undoing. As is usual in such cases, there were several conflicting accounts of the shooting, but the general impression seems to have been that Mehl had offended one of the gentlmen by some remark he had made to one of his lady guests. Overturning his chair, the murderer had taken Mehl by one of his ears, and after shaking him well, had shot him behind the other ear, saying; "In the name of the American People—go where you belong."

He then made his way out of the restaurant, with a revolver in each hand, and jumped into a waiting hansom, saying to the cabman, "Drive for your life to the Fiftieth Street station—a murder has been committed."

His friends who were left behind refused to give his name, but that proved to be unnecessary, as, on arriving at the Fiftieth Street station, he gave himself up at the desk for murder, calmly handing the sergeant his revolver, and giving his name as Richard Ogden-Dodge, of Riverview, Westchester County.

12. As the train from North Berkshire steamed into Platform 13 of the Grand Union Station last evening, Gateman William Jenkins, a well-known figure at the depot, was there at the gate to hurry the arriving passengers and insult any bewildered ones who might ask him a question. Jenkins was a tall, lean man with a black moustache and small black eyes set close together, and was, of course, dressed in the customary grey uniform, with vizor cap. To travelers by the New England road he was a familiar character, known for the spirit with which he bullied tired old ladies with bundles, and immigrants already half out of their wits with the courtesies of Ellis Island.

Last evening the 11:55 was filled with passengers, and Jenkins, who was anxious to get home, hustled them with even less ceremony than usual as they filed through the gate.

Near the end of the procession was a pretty young woman, carrying a grip in one hand, and some wild flowers in the other. As she was passing through the gate, she dropped the flowers, and stopped to pick them up.

"Don't block the way there!" said Jenkins, in his most Grand Union manner. "There are people behind you." The girl looked at him with flashing eyes.

"Oh, that's all right," said Jenkins, "here is my number, if that's all you want—go and make your complaint."

"No need to do that," spoke up a fresh, strong voice behind the girl. A young giant from Yale, all health and tweeds and golf-sticks, loomed up, and bowing to the girl, said: "Please allow me to attend to this matter for you. I know Jenkins and his number very well!"

By this time all the people were out of the train, and only the girl, the young giant, and Jenkins stood at the gate. An engine was at the moment coming up the free track for the purpose of making up a train for the north. "Come here, Jenkins," said the young man; and, taking Jenkins by the shoulders he pulled him inside the gate and shut it with a clash.

Meanwhile, various bystanders who had been attracted by the unusual occurrence, stood looking through the bars helplessly wondering what was about to happen.

All they heard was, "Jenkins, do you see that engine?" All they saw was Jenkins, one moment in the arms of the young giant, and the next moment dashed under the wheels of the oncoming locomotive.

His murderer turned with a smile to the lady, and taking up his golf-sticks, disappeared across the track in an eastward direction.

When the remains of Jenkins were disentangled from the wheels of the engine, a mutilated card was found bearing the inscription, "S. S. A. N."

So had run the morning newspapers for September 13, but the afternoon newspapers, of course, came out with later particulars; and of these the most singular and significant were: that—

All the murderers had given themselves up, and that—all were men of prominent family.

Day's Happenings in the Industrial World

RECEIVED 1,100 VOLTS.

W. H. Tucker Has Very Narrow Escape.

W. H. Tucker, a student in the testing room at the Fort Wayne Electric works, owes his life to the intervention of a thick woolen corduroy shirt. This morning he was half-seated upon a stand in the testing room and in that position he leaned against a switchboard. He was instantly knocked down by a current of electricity which is said to have had a voltage of 1,100. The point of contact with the charged wire was about three inches above the right wrist and a burn about an inch long was left on the arm. Mr. Tucker wore a heavy shirt and the electric current had to pass through this garment and a woolen undershirt. Had it been direct he would undoubtedly have been instantly killed. He was able to continue at work, however, despite the shock he received.

OPEN THIS EVENING.

Conference of Bowser Salesmen Begins.

Hundreds of people who have resided in Fort Wayne a quarter of a century or more are making their first inspection of the oil tank works of S. F. Bowser & Company this afternoon and they are being courteously escorted about by the representatives of the different departments, who take pains to explain interesting features about the manufacture of the products of the big concern. Salesmen who will attend the conference have been coming in ever since Sunday evening and nearly all of them are here now. The conference will open this evening, President S. F. Bowser delivering the address of welcome. Some of the leading orators among the salesmen will deliver short addresses, among them being Rosser McClure, George R. Quarles, William Robertson, W. E. Jenkinson and J. M. Sitton. Following this meeting there will be a social session at the plant for the purpose of making the representatives better acquainted, but no business will be transacted.

The visitors and home representatives of the Bowser company are wearing a medallion to distinguish themselves from the rest of humanity and the frequency with which one meets the wearers of these badges impresses the fact upon his mind that there are lots of men employed by the big oil tank concern. The badge is a bronzed medallion bearing the word Bowser, suspended by a silk ribbon four or five inches long from a bronzed cross-bar pin. It is a very pretty ornament and will be an interesting souvenir of the 1910 meeting.

NEW FOREMAN AT ALLIANCE.

Ed Turner Resigns and John Beugnot Succeeds Him.

The rumor published by The Sentinel last evening concerning the resignation of Ed S. Turner as round house foreman for the Pennsylvania at Alliance, has been confirmed by definite news from that city this morning. Mr. Turner has resigned and gone to his old home in the east and John Beugnot has been transferred from Crestline to fill the vacancy. Mr. Beugnot is a Fort Wayne man and he learned his trade in the Pennsylvania shops in this city, serving between terms of a polytechnical college he attended and graduated from. After completing his apprenticeship Mr. Beugnot served at the shops two or three years as a gang foreman and for awhile was foreman of the car machine shop, a position now occupied by P. J. Scheid. He went east about six years ago.

HOMESEEKERS' TRAVEL.

Business Much Better Than Local Agents Expected.

This is homeseekers' day out of Fort Wayne territory and it is being characterized by the heaviest travel of its kind for several months. In fact it is much heavier than the local passenger agents expected. After the noon trains had left, the Wabash agent had sold twelve tickets, the Pennsylvania eight and the Nickel Plate eight and contracts were practically closed for twenty-five or thirty more for the trains leaving the city later in the day. These sales will be about equally divided between the three roads participating in the business.

TALKS ABOUT AUTOMOBILES.

Elwood Haynes Tonight Before Electrotechnics.

The January lecture of the Electrotechnic club will be given at the club rooms at the Fort Wayne Electric works tonight, the speaker being Elwood Haynes, president of the Haynes Automobile company, of Kokomo, Ind. The subject is full of interest to many people and there is none better qualified to discuss it than Mr. Haynes. The Electros will also make a number of additions to the membership roll—possibly twenty-five. This will bring the roll up to the 300 point, the largest in the history of the club.

PANHANDLE SHOPS.

Comp Negotiating for a Site at Gas City.

The Pennsylvania Southwest System has taken options on 265 acres of land in Grant county, Indiana, near Gas City, upon which it is said big shops will be established. The tracks of the Panhandle now pass through the farm, dividing it in two parts, and it is said the company is especially desirous of getting possession of it. The main shops of the Chicago division of the Panhandle are at Logansport and it is said the proposed shops will eventually eclipse those works in equipment and otherwise.

HAS GOOD REPUTATION,

L. Ruda, the Macedonian who was arrested and fined for carrying concealed weapons last Saturday, is not such a bad fellow, according to the sentiments of some of the men who were his fellow laborers at the Wabash shops. Ruda has been in Fort Wayne nearly two years, they say, and during that time he has worked constantly and sent $295 of his earnings to his parents in the old country. He called at the shops yesterday, after he had been released from custody, and resigned. He told his friends that he was going to buy another gun and lay for the Macedonian who hit him with a pick on election day and nearly killed him.

INJURED BY JUMPING.

Orla McCutcheon, a Pennsylvania brakeman, is suffering slightly from a shake up received when he jumped from the cab of an engine at Winona Saturday night to avoid what he feared might be serious injury. He is at his home, 125 Dawson street. The accident in which he figured was the rear end collision of freight trains, in which a caboose was destroyed.

NEW TURNTABLE MAN.

C. F. Bailey, who came here recently from Coldwater, Mich., has been employed as a turntable operator at the Pennsylvania round house. He is being instructed in the work and will take charge of the turntable in a few days. He will probably get the day trick.

SHOP HAND INJURED.

H. H. Burlage had a foot painfully hurt yesterday, when a heavy plank dropped from a pile and fell upon the member. One of the toes, it is believed, had the bones broken.

TWO OLD ENGINEERS SICK.

Passenger Engineers Peter Reilly and John Mooney, of the Pennsylvania, are off duty on account of sickness. Mr. Reilly had been sick a week with the grip and suffered a relapse when he reported for duty, and Mr. Mooney is suffering from a nervous trouble, which will not develop into anything serious, it is believed.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Master Mechanic J. J. Muir, of the Bass works, left last night for the east on business for the company.

L. J. Schmidt, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, was called home yesterday by the sickness of his child.

Michael Conners, J. A. Henry, C. A. Shafer, H. E. Lonergan and I. W. Crandall, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

W. H. Watts, special police agent for the C., H. & D., with headquarters at Lima, Ohio, was in Fort Wayne on business this morning.

F. X. Miller resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning, after an absence of two or three days on account of an injured hand.

H. F. Meyers and E. J. Conway, of the electrical department of the Pennsylvania, will attend the electrical exposition at Chicago Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Machinist Herman Regel, who had been doing some work on a steam plant at Chicago, has returned and resumed work at the bench in the Bass shops.

Mrs. Opatz, wife of Assistant Foreman Frank Opatz, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, has gone to Indianapolis to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry.

Theodore Witte took a position at the Wabash shops and P. J. Herber, Harry Springman and H. B. Ronk resigned positions there this morning. Herber has taken employment with the Transfer company.

The New York Central will spend $15,000,000 for improvements at Cleveland. It is planned to build a new passenger station there, a freight depot and construct a four track system into Cleveland.

W. Thielker, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, was struck by one of the chains of the hoisting machinery yesterday and knocked to the floor. Luckily his only injury is a bruise where the chain struck him and he was able to remain at work.

Mrs. G. K. Moshier, of Grand Rapids, is spending a few days with her Fort Wayne friends. She is the wife of Engineer Moshier, now on the retired list, who ran an engine on the G. R. & I. in and out of Fort Wayne for so many years.

George P. Nichter, who had a hand injured two weeks ago, reported for work at the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. Machinist William Smith, who had been sick a few days, and Boilermaker J. J. Mosher, who was injured ten days ago, also reported for duty this morning.

At the meeting of Friendship lodge, No. 70, International association of Machinists, last evening the finishing touches were given the arrangements for the ball in the Minuet hall on Friday evening, January 28. The proceeds of this ball will go into the union's treasury to meet current expenses.

T. W. Starke has organized a bowling team from the ranks of his shopmates at the Pennsylvania shops and will play the Bass patternmakers next Thursday evening, at the Brunswick alleys. The personnel of the Pennsylvania shop team is as follows: T. W. Starke, captain; J. C. Traxler, W. Bingo, H. Henschen and C. F. Fremion.

Local No. 14, Barbers' union, will move into Kimball hall before the time for holding the next meeting, the first Monday in February. The union has been holding its meetings in the Elektron hall, which is too small for the big attendance of late months. J. C. Werkman, the national organizer, has been at work this winter and as a result of his and other members' efforts, the union has 180 members.

The contractor who has the job of building an overhead bridge for the Winona-Peru electric line, over the Erie road at Akron, is showing commendable energy in carrying on the work. He has the site of the bridge covered with canvas, beneath which the cement is mixed and put in position. Seven big stoves are kept "booming" all the time and hot water and salt are used in mixing the cement. The cement portion of the work will be completed next week.

ASHLAND, PA., HAS BIG FIRE.

Ashland, Pa., Jan. 18.—The Ashland opera house was destroyed, the office of the Ashland Telegram was practically ruined, and the stocks of several business places were damaged by fire here early today. The loss is estimated at $80,000.

CHICAGO BANKER DIES.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—John Farson, banker, who was well known in financial and social circles throughout the country, died here today as the result of heart disease. Mr. Farson was fifty-four years of age.

ANNOUNCE NEWSPAPER CHANGE.

Charles H. Grasty in Control of the Baltimore Sun.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—It was learned today that the papers have been signed by two of three interests controlling the A. S. Abell estate transferring to Charles H. Grasty the control of the stock in the A. S. Abell company which publishes the Baltimore Sun. The Abells, it is understood, will retain a large interest and be connected with the management of the paper. It is understood further that the change will not mean any revolution either in the policy of the Sun or its personnel.

Mr. Grasty was formerly managing owner of the Baltimore News. Subsequently he became identified with the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, having only recently disposed of his interests in those papers.

Politics and Candidates Discussed at Limekiln Club.

ALL PARTIES ARE JUST ALIKE

Officeholders Not So Much to Blame if They Graft as the People Who Put Temptation In Their Way—Government Always Safe.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

At the last meeting of the Limekiln club, when the routine business had been disposed of and the temperature of the hall run up to 120 degrees, Brother Gardner arose and said:

"My frens, we have jest passed through de throes of a local 'lection in dis city, and tonight while I was waitin' fur de meetin' to open I heard Giveadam Jones lamentin' dat a dozen different rascals had been boosted into office and dat dar was gwine to be a heap o' corrupshun fur seberal years to come.

"I want to say a few words on politics and candydates. When I was gwine to cast my fust vote men cum to me and told me not to wote fur dis one and dat one, and I finally got so mixed up dat on 'lection day I went off rabbit huntin' and didn't wote at all.

"I was a greenhorn den, but I have since learned a thing or two. In de fust place, our politicians are jest as honest as our grocers or any other class of business men. De whole world am on de make. I are sittin' in a church on Sundays whar de preacher gits $400 a year. If any odder congregation would pay him a hundred mo' he'd shake us in a month, and I wouldn't blame him. A thing is not only wuth all it's wuth, but all you kin git fur it.

"Right straight along fur de last fo'ty years when 'lection times come round dar am de same old story about dishonest men. I used to believe 'em and take it to heart, but I got ober dat long ago. I take it dat one party am jest as good and jest as bad as anodder. I take it dat one man am jest as good and jest as bad as anodder.

"BELIEVE NUTHIN' DAT YOU HEAR ABOUT A CANDYDATE."

"I once knowed a mighty good white man, and my respect fur him amounted to reverence. I used to think dat when he cum to die de gates of heaven would be standin' open fur him. After a time he run fur office. It wasn't much of an office, but it was big 'nuff to bring out his record. What did I read and hear 'bout dat good man?

According to the Newspapers.

"I read dat he sent his ole mother to de porehouse.

"Dat he burned a nayber's barn.

"Dat he hadn't told de truth in thirty years.

"Dat he was allus cuffin' his wife and beatin' his chill'en.

"Dat he was a bankrupt, a thief, a hypocrite, and had been in prison fur stabbin' a man.

"My frens, when I read and heard all dose things about de man I had reverenced I jist broke down and cried. Den I went right ober to his house to console him. To my amazement, he didn't need any consolashun. He was as chipper as you please. He wasn't eben put out. He said dat it was simply de way of politics and I mustn't pay any tenshun to it. And next day arter 'lection de men who had called him de hardest names were walkin' arm in arm wid him and proud of de honor.

"Don't you believe nuthin' dat you hear about a candydate. Be he high or low, rich or poor, it is deemed necessary to pitch into him and smirch his character as much as possible fur a few days. Arter dat, whether 'lected or defeated, he am all right ag'in. It's jest our leetle way, you see. Dar am two parties. If you belong to one you am specled to say and believe dat de odder am composed of rascals and villains. We all know better, but dat's anodder of our leetle ways.

"I've knowed a score of different politicians, and I've allus been told to look out fur 'em and dat dey would sell my grandmother's grave if dey got de chance. Nobody ever told me to look out fur lawyers and insurance and real estate men, but as a matter of fact it was one of de latter class dat sold me a bit of land with $150 fur double dat price, and as fur my grandmother's grave, a lawyer stole de hull graveyard wherein she was buried. A politician simply hankers fur office, aches for an easy salary and wants power. He'll graft if you leave de bars down, but so will a bookkeeper fur an undertaker. It's our leetle way—to graft. De politicians of de kentry don't steal half as much as de bankers. Jest remember dat when you read all de hard things in de papers.

"Giveadam Jones reckoned he had voted fur a dozen rascals bekase dey was on his ticket, and he prides hisself on wotin' de straight thing. I don't imagine dar was a single rascal among de lot. Dey was simply average men. Put a cash register into de office along wid 'em and count up de receipts ebery night, and dere will be no shortage. Dat's anodder of our leetle ways. We 'lect a man to handle our cash, gib him all de chances in de world to steal—in fact, tempt him into it—and den we wonder why he goes wrong. De whole caboodle of us haven't got de sense of a corner grocer in dis direction.

Voting Straight a Mistake.

"And a word or two 'bout wotin' straight. De man who does it orter be robbed. De man who wotes fur an unfit man bekase dat pusson has got a nomination on his ticket am de open enemy of good and honest government. He's mo' to blame dan anybody else when things go wrong. Dat's anodder of our leetle ways. We refuse to buy pore butter at de grocery to please de grocer or de hull world behind him, but we will wote fur men whose reputations smell wuss'n de butter. We do it and den kick bekase we haven't better government.

"And I want to say a word 'bout de government. It's good 'nuff. It's good 'nuff no matter what party am in power. If we am asses 'nuff to call a man a liar, a rascal and a thief and den 'lect him to handle our money and make our laws we deserve what we get. I hear somebody kickin' ebery day, but we hain't de least right to find one word of fault.

"In my time a governor or preside was looked upon as a great man. C was at de head of a state and de od at de head of a nashun. We spoke 'em wid respect and awe. How ar nowadays? De newspapers have c tooned and belittled 'em until c seem to stand no higher dan a count constable. We demand on de ot hand dat dey shall be our greates men and on de odder dey am no soone 'lected dan we go to work to pul 'em down among de smallest. Dat's one of our leetle ways dat make us a great people in de eyes of Europe.

"But I'm wantin' to say to you dat when de next 'lection cums along make no mistake. If you take a newspaper into your house you am gwine to read dat de men you have allus looked up to am rascals and thieves. You will read dat if such a ticket am not victorious de kentry am gwine to fall into a pit so deep dat not a single tater will be saved. You am gwine to read dat it depends on you alone whether America continues prosperous or has half a dozen mo' panics.

What to Do on Election Day.

"Men will come to you and tell you dis and dat and upsot you. You'll be made at last to think dat if you don't wote fur a sartin candydate fur office de town am gwine to be swept by cyclones and toyed wid by earthquakes. Jest you stick a pin dar. Don't read de newspapers, and don't let a stranger frew de gate. Jest keep cool and quiet, and don't sweat your collar, and when 'lection day cums along take your spade on your shoulder and go to de woods and find a groundhog's hole and dig him out. You may not git him, but I'm tellin' you dat you will have done jest as much fur de kentry as if you had swaggered into a pollin' place and voted and swaggered out ag'in. Lots of good citizens do go to de polls and vote, and some of 'em am so good dat dey vote in four different precincts de same day, but dar am odder good ones who go out arter rabbits or groundhogs, and it's 'bout an even thing as to which am de best patriot. Let us now saw de purcedin's in twain and go home."

GO TO THE RESCUE.

Don't Wait Till It's Too Late—Follow the Example of a Fort Wayne Citizen.

Rescue the aching back.
If it keeps on aching, trouble comes.
Backache is kidney ache.
If you neglect the kidneys' warning,
Look out for urinary trouble—diabetes.

This Fort Wayne citizen will show you how to go to the rescue.

J. F. Rempis, 515 Holman St., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I advise anyone afflicted with kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. I suffered from this complaint for three years and was unable to find relief. The pains in my loins were terrible and my back ached severely at night. I also felt tired and languid and was subject to dizzy spells. The least cold I caught settled in my kidneys and caused the secretions from these organs to pass too frequently. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use and the contents of two boxes made a complete and permanent cure."

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 18.—There were further selling orders in some portions of the list when the stock market opened today. Twenty-five thousand shares of United States Steel sold at 83¼ and 83½, compared with 84 last night, and nine thousand shares of Union Pacific at 192 and 191¾, compared with 192⅝ last night. Northern Pacific, International Pump and United States Realty declined a point.

When the opening selling orders had been cleared up the market took a brisk turn upward, which more than wiped out the losses. At the high level prices wavered. United States Steel dropped back a point from the high mark but the list steadied again and became quiet.

Another dip in prices carried United States Steel back to the lowest, after which prices rallied higher than before. Southern Pacific, Wabash preferred, Amalgamated Copper and Republic Steel preferred rose 1 over last night; Pullman 1½ and Reading 1⅝. The tone at noon was uncertain. Bonds were easy.

Trading was much restricted between 12 and 1 o'clock and fluctuations were narrow. There was some activity in the Interborough Metropolitan stocks and they fell off nearly a point. Union Pacific's advance reached a point.

A sudden drop of 2¾ to 43¼ in Rock Island caused prices to sag in sympathy. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading and several others went back about a point after which the list grew firm again and went to its highest.

The market closed weak and unsettled. Prices were pushed to the highest level of the day in the final hour and then reacted violently with the break in the Hill stocks. Reading's rise reached 2¼ points, St. Paul, Amalgamated Copper, Hocking Coal and Colorado Fuel 1⅝ and Southern Railway preferred, United States Steel, Great Northern Ore Certificates, American, Anaconda and Central Leather 1. These gains were entirely wiped out and prices fell back to the lowest.
